LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Magic Squares: And the Magic Cube

To the Editor of the
"North-China Daily News"

Sir,—Upcountry in his letter of some time ago said that the best known magic square was in two dimensions as follows:—

2	9	4
7	5	3
6	1	8

He wondered if it was possible to take a cube of 27 small cubes and make the addition three dimensional. Here is the solution. I have laid the small cubes flat.

1	24	19	26
2	20	27	22
3	25	23	21

Back row

1	7	5	3
2	6	1	8
3	2	9	4

Middle row

1	11	18	13
2	16	14	12
3	15	10	17

Front row

It will be seen that the total of each column is 42.

Study of the above chart will reveal some interesting combinations.

But if Upcountry really wants a headache I recommend him to attempt not only the 3 dimensions show above, but so arrange the 27 numbered cubes that they add up to the same total taken any way.

It will be seen from the following what I mean but my figures do not lead to a solution:—

8	22	12
9		13
25		17
	27
	14
	1
3		7
15		19
24		16

Bottles Wanted: For Refugee Babies

To the Editor of the
"North-China Daily News"

Sir,—May we make an appeal through your columns for old medicine bottles to be used in our milk depot for refugee babies? The 4 oz., 5 oz. or 6 oz. bottles commonly used by drug stores for cough syrups, and the like are best for this purpose, as the nipples used on regular baby bottles fit them snugly. As we are now preparing about 200 bottles daily and need a double supply over the week-end, we should like to have bottles and stoppers left at Moore Memorial Church, 316 Yu Ya Ching Road as soon as possible, in care of Miss Mary Ellen Hawk.

We should like to acknowledge the following donations:

Associated Drug Co., Bottles and medical supplies; Dr. Zau Chi Wo, $30; Trueheart Relief Association, 2,000 bottles Cholera Remedy, 2,000 packages medicinal tea; Yung Tsong School, 227 tins milk, 50 pairs of shoes, cod-liver oil, Anonymous, $20; For baby Marjorie, by her uncle, (Anoymous); Mrs. Artau, $25; Mrs. Thoroughman, $5; Mr. Tsa Nying Dong, 50 Infant Feeding Sets; McTyiere Primary School No. 2, Balls and Toys; A Kindergarten child's birthday gift, $5; Nestle's Milk Products, 4 Milk Mixers; A-Gong, flower man, $1; Mrs. Finis Drummond, $5.

Refugees and Babies: Sex Segregation Suggested

To the Editor of the
"North-China Daily News"

Sir,—With Tokyo preparing for a ten years war the problem facing Shanghai is what to do with the thousands of refugees crowded into camps here.

It has been whispered by one or two gentlemen who have first-hand knowledge of the mentality of the average refugee that a large majority are perfectly satisfied with their lot, in fact are tremendously relieved from the worry of working to support their rapidly-growing families.

On this question it is my opinion that the rate of births in these various camps rather supports the contention of the knowing ones, and if this "incident" lasts a few more years, the refugee population will be substantially increased.

No person with a spark of sympathy can do anything else but feel the deepest sorrow at the misfortune of these inoffensive people deprived of their all through no fault of their own, but the time has come to call a halt to the mass marriages that we read about and to separate the sexes. This may be interpreted as heaping coals of fire on a class who are bearing more than their share of the misfortunes of war, but to allow these homeless people to have children ad lib and then expect them to go back to the land and start from scratch and feed them is asking a little too much even from these hardened workers of the soil. Are we quite fair to allow these ignorant people, with no thought for the morrow, to take on responsibilities of large families whom they will be unable to feed until the harvest is gathered. I assume when this "whatsit" is over the government will have such heavy demands to resettle the farmers that there will be practically nothing for each family group.

All who have lived in China know what these farmers suffer when flood or drought ruins their crops; particularly the aged and children. Take these refugee children here who are given food (quite beyond the means of the average Chinese farmer), many will not survive on the normal food used by the Chinese of this class, if this diet is cut still further the result can better be imagined than described.

In making my suggestion to segregate the sexes in all refugee camps, it is just possible that many would return to the land knowing their families were safe in well run camps, and in due course the family could return to their new homes.

I would be the first to admit my suggestion sounds inhuman, but as one who has seen the misery of these poor people under adversity in normal times, I doubt the ability of the Government to help them when practically the whole of China is involved.

Action.

The Cliveden Set: Second Foreign Office?

To the Editor of the
"North-China Daily News"

Sir,—Residents in China have frequently heard about the sinister machinations of the "Anfu Clique" and some of us no doubt plume ourselves that "it couldn't happen there" with regard to governments at home.

Lest our pride become too overweening, the following extract culled from the April edition of the (American) "Magazine Digest" (reprinted from "Current History Magazine") will have a salutary effect and shed valuable light on two (almost) venerable British Conservative journals.

Incidentally, it will gratify some patriots to learn that a foreigner may be unduly influencing British foreign policy.

As to the question of its veracity, perhaps some better informed reader will decide whether this is just a cock and bull story or based on cold sober reality.

Cliveden is the most important of the politically important British country houses. It is the Thames Valley residence of Viscountess Astor, sometime of Virginia, and now wife of Viscount Astor, owner of the weekly Sunday newspaper, "The Observer," and sister-in-law of the Honorable John Jacob Astor, who owns the controlling interest in the London "Times." Approximately in the spring of 1936 Cliveden began to be the centre of a policy and an intrigue which have since brought it to the position where it is freely and bitterly referred to by the opponent of that policy in Whitehall as "Britain's Second Foreign Office."

Most prominent and active of the personalities associated with the set are: Lady Astor, Lord Astor, Major Astor, Lord Lothian, Lord Londonderry, Mr. Geoffrey Dawson, editor of the "Times," Sir Neville Henderson, Lord Halifax, and the two of the Cabinet Ministers, Sir Samuel Hoare and Sir John Simon.

Active dislike of the French, fear and hatred of all "popular" movements, a consequent admiration for the "defensive" possibilities of Hitlerism, and mixed with that a fear amounting to a panic of a possible German attack upon Britain are the principal common characteristics of the members of the set. Their attitude towards the Soviet Union needs no description.

It would be hard to exaggerate the ramifications of their power and influence in politics, newspapers, and the City. They make themselves as effectively felt, than the policies more orthodoxly hammered out in the rooms of the Foreign Office.

It was at Cliveden that the visit of Lord Halifax in Germany was decided—a decision accompanied by an extraordinary correspondence in "The Times," culminating in a leading article virtually demanding favourable consideration for German imperialist aims in Europe, and demanding that the negotiations to that end should be carried out by the methods of secret diplomacy. (The result of this is seen in the recent German Coup in Austria for which Hitler received secret assurances from the British cabinet).

Simpliste: The Meaning of a Word

To the Editor of the
"North-China Daily News"

Sir,—"No one can rightly understand any part, until he has read the whole" is an axiom one should always bear in mind, but, with this reservation, the phrase in question might perhaps be translated thus: "The remedy is not merely simple but self-evident," or, again "Of exaggerated simplicity."

However, there is nothing like verse to elucidate matters, so, here goes:

If you ask us what it means,
We could answer off the bat,
Not as fast as College deans,
But omniscient at that:
"Most preposterously clear,"
"Plain as daylight," never blurred,
Though "simplistic" is, we fear,
The translation of the word.

Jack and Jill.

Sixty Years Ago

From the "North-China Daily News," of June 30, 1878

We are glad to be at length enabled to lay before our readers some additional telegrams regarding the progress of Congress; and it should be matter for congratulation to all persons of all shades of political opinion, now that things have proceeded so far, to find Lord Beaconsfield resolved to have a clear and definite settlement arrived at. That is the only way to avoid a costly and destructive war. There is little doubt that England has the ball at her foot, and it is to be hoped there will now be no drawing back on her part. The future arrangements with respect to Bosnia, Herzegovina etc., must be left to be decided between the provinces named and the countries to whom they are apportioned, though no doubt it will be thought in some quarters that Russia is getting too good a slice of the pudding in being permitted to annex Rumania and probably divide Bessarabia. Our readers are certainly to be congratulated on the copiousness of these telegrams affording as they do such a contrast to the skeletons usually received in Shanghai.

FROM SHANGHAI FOOTLIGHTS AND FILMS

"The Adventures of Robin Hood"

This, the best talking historical picture to grace a Shanghai screen, is attracting crowded houses at the Grand. Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland have a huge cast in support.

"Navy Blue and Gold"

In this service picture at the Nanking tomorrow, Robert Young and James Stewart are rivals for the hand of Florence Rice. Associated players include Billie Burke and Lionel Barrymore.

"Merry-go-Round of 1938"

Broadway, Hollywood and radio comedians join in making this comedy smash-hit which comes to the Metropol Theatre tomorrow. Bert Lahr, Mischa Auer and Alice Brady are among the headliners.

"Sailing Along"

With Jessie Matthews (starred) and Jack Whiting presenting some fast dance turns, this Gaumont-British picture comes to the Cathay Theatre today—also Roland Young and Barry Mackay.

Current Films

CATHAY.—"Sailing Along."—Ship ahoy! It's the barge Wiltshire, with a cargo of melody, mirth and romance aboard! A Jessie Matthews picture is a screen event and this is her best yet. The supporting cast includes Roland Young, Barry Mackay, Jack Whiting, Noel Madison, Athene Seyler, Frank Pettingell and Peggy Novak. Opens today.

GRAND.—"The Adventures of Robin Hood."—The deathless romance that has thrilled the world for centuries comes to you with an ideal cast in a blaze of the new perfected technicolour. The makers of "Light Brigade" present a two million dollar production that sets a new standard for screen magnificence. Starring Errol Flynn and Olivia de Havilland with Basil Rathbone, Claude Rains, Patric Knowles, Eugene Pallette, Alan Hale, Melville Cooper, Ian Hunter and Una O'Connor. Reviewed elsewhere.

NANKING.—"The Adventures of Tom Sawyer."—Mark Twain's immortal classic brilliantly produced in technicolour, bringing to the screen the newest juvenile sensation, Tommy Kelly. The cast includes Jackie Moran, as Huckleberry Finn, May Robson, Walter Brennan, Victor Jory and Cora Sue Collins. Last day.

METROPOL.—"The Awful Truth." Cary Grant and Irene Dunne in one of the craziest "crazy" comedies, supported by Ralph Bellamy and Alexandra D'Arcy. Last day.

CAPITOL. — "Moonlight Sonata." — This mostly is a Paderewski picture, although Marie Tempest, Charles Farrell and Eric Portman give excellent support in the plot structure. At 2.30 and 5 p.m. only.

PARIS.—"Dark Journey."—With its action set in Stockholm, this British film stars Conrad Veidt and Vivien Leigh. Last day.

RIALTO.—"Let's Get Married." — A hilarious comedy concerning a weather prophet and his escapades. The cast includes Ida Lupino, Walter Connolly and Ralph Bellmay. Last day.

Films Coming

"Navy Blue and Gold."—Two midshipmen and a girl provide the romantic complications in this thrilling story of life at Annapolis. Florence Rice is the girl—Robert Young and James Stewart are the midshipmen—and the fight is on! Also featured in the cast are Lionel Barrymore, Billie Burke and Tom Brown. Begins tomorrow at the NANKING.

"Merry-Go-Round of 1938." — Built for laughing purposes, this merry, mad whirl-wind of mirth combines top-line talent of Broadway, the airways and Hollywood such as Bert Lahr, Jimmie Slavo, Billy House, Alice Brady, Mischa Auer, Joy Hodges, Louise Fazenda, John King, Barbara Read and Dave Apollon and his orchestra. Tomorrow at the METROPOL.

"Love, Honour and Behave."—A comedy romance containing more socks than kisses and that ear-haunting melody "Bei Mir Bist Du Schoen." Starring Wayne Morris, Priscilla Lane, John Litel, Thomas Mitchell and Dick Foran. Coming soon to the CATHAY.

"The Awful Truth"

Irene Dunne, with Cary Grant, stars , today at the Metropol.

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."—Reissue of Robert Louis Stevenson's weird thriller. The story of a man with a double personality — lovable philanthropist and devil incarnate. With Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, Rose Hobart, Holmes Herbert and Halliwell Hobbes. Coming to the GRAND.

"Heidi."—Shirley Temple in an enchanting tale of the relationships of children and grown-ups. Supporting are Jean Hersholt, Arthur Treacher, Pauline Moore and Mady Christians. Opens tomorrow at the CAPITOL.

"College Swing."—A de luxe musicale in which Gracie Allen gets control of Alden College and starts a system of "liberal education" that will have you in hysterics. The huge star cast includes George Burns, Gracie Allen, Martha Raye, Bob Hope, E. E. Horton, Florence George, Ben Blue, Betty Grable, Jackie Coogan, Cecil Cunningham, the Slate Bros, Tully Marshall and 20 other featured players. Coming to the CATHAY.

"Wife, Doctor and Nurse."—A new slant to the eternal triangle as portrayed by Warner Baxter, Virginia Bruce and Loretta Young. Tomorrow at the PARIS.

"Merrily We Live."—Constance Bennett and Brian Aherne form a delightful co-starring team in this uproarious story of one of the daffiest families ever portrayed either on stage or screen. Others in the stellar comedy cast include: Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Patsy Kelly, Ann Dvorak and Tom Brown. Coming to the NANKING.

"Hawaii Calls."—The most famous beauty spots in the Hawaiian Islands including Honolulu's Waikiki Beach, are seen in Bobby Breen's new musicale, with a supporting cast which includes Irvin S. Cobb, Gloria Holden, Ned Sparks, Warren Hull and other screen favourites. Coming to the METROPOL.

"The Firefly."—A brilliant musical hit from the celebrated Harbach-Rudolf Friml operetta. The cast includes Jeanette MacDonald, Allan Jones and Warren William. Tomorrow at the RIALTO.

How to Spend Money

One of the most outstanding films to be shown last year was "Pepe Le Moko." It was a French production, and whether one understood that language or not one realized that it was a masterpiece of screen art. The story was highly atmospheric, dealing with the life of the Kasbbah, the criminal quarter of Algiers.

The hero, an outlaw wanted by the police, loathing his enforced exile, was irresistibly attracted by a pretty visitor who brought with her the breath of Paris and of all the things he had lost and still hankered for. Because of her he was tempted to leave his hiding place and was shot down by the police.

Now Walter Wanger has bought the rights and is remaking this essentially French story in Hollywood with an American cast. The script is being rewritten to suit American tastes, and Charles Boyer will play the hero. It is not the first time that Hollywood has bought and ruined, a successful European film by attempting to adapt it for a world market. "Maskerade," the Austrian film starring Paula Wessely, was a typical example.

American producers believe that a film cannot succeed by its merits alone. It must have highly-advertised stars and elaborate production if it is to be a commercial success. "Pepe le Moko" cost £13,000 to make in France. Mr. Wanger is proposing to spend, at a conservative estimate, £200,000 on the American version.

"Kentucky Moonshine."— Starring the Ritz Brothers, Tony Martin, Marjorie Weaver, Slim Summerville, John Carradine, Wally Vernon, Berton Churchill and Eddie Collins. Just one big riot of mirth and melody in which Public Maniacs turn hill-billies to scoop a radio contract—and find that there's romance in "them there hills" and a spot of feuding as well. Coming to the GRAND.

"The Last Gangster." — Starring Edward G. Robinson in a dynamic new drama of a criminal's regeneration, returning to the type of role which first won him renown as one of the screen's greatest character stars. The cast includes Rose Stradner, James Stewart, Lionel Stander, Douglas Scott and John Carradine. Coming soon the NANKING.

"The Citadel"

Great preparations are afoot for the filming of A. J. Cronin's best selling novel, "The Citadel." It is a pleasant change that an English best seller should be filmed in England, even though they have had to call in the assistance of an American leading lady and a Hollywood producer. The star part will of course be played by Robert Donat, and Rosalind Russell will be Christine, the heroine.

Interviewed on her arrival in England, Miss Russell made the surprising confession that it was the prospect of being able to die on the screen that decided her to accept the part. She is looking forward to that death scene. She hopes it will be a long and lingering one. In fact, she says, she flatly refuses to die an abrupt screen death.

King Vidor, one of the screen's pioneer producers, will direct "The Citadel." Vidor is the man who made "The Big Parade," "The Crowd," "Stella Dallas" and that fine negro film "Hallelujah." He refuses to direct any story which does not make a strong personal appeal to him. His favourite theme is that of the ordinary man up against some ordinary problem, not an emotional problem but one of hard, matter-of-fact reality, such as poverty, unemployment or war.

"The Citadel" is a story after his own heart. The hero is a professional man, a doctor, who has to struggle against prejudice, incompetence, and persecution. He is not a romantic but a thoroughly human figure. His problems are those that face a thousand others of his fellowmen every day of their lives. In King Vidor's experienced hands "The Citadel" should become one of the outstanding films of the year.

New Nelson Epic

Leslie Howard, who has barely finished playing Professor Higgins in the screen version of Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," is already engrossed in his new rôle of Nelson. Anna Neagle, will not, after all, play Lady Hamilton. Instead a famous international star will probably be engaged for the part.

The character of Lady Hamilton will not be romanticized. She will be shown as a beautiful but unscrupulous woman, and it will be suggested that Nelson became a hero not because of, but in spite of his love for her. This is a bold and unconventional line to take, but then Herbert Wilcox, the producer, means to make "Nelson" something unusual in the way of biographical films.

He is going to avoid the better-known incidents in Nelson's life: the placing of the telescope to his blind eye, the delivery of the famous words "England expects that every man this day will do his duty." He will not attempt to crowd the whole of Nelson's career into the film.

He wants to build up a character study by concentrating on the part of his life that lay between the battle of the Nile and the battle of Trafalgar. Henry Hathaway, the epic expert of Hollywood, may be asked to come over and direct.

Arleen Whelan Cinema Cinderella

Darryl Zanuck to Star Her in "Kidnapped"

I'm almost afraid to tell this story. It has a Cinderella motif, and I feel you are all so sceptical, writes Stephen Watts in the "Sunday Express."

Looking back on her manicuring days now, Arleen Whelan reflects that nail-paring was only half the job.

The other, more difficult, half consisted of keeping herself out of the clutches of movie men (real and phoney) who told her she was a second Gaynor, Loy, Loretta Young and whatnot.

It's quite a way for Arleen to look back, for it is a year since she went into films. And now she is coming along in her first part, for which she has been training all that time.

She is the leading lady in the Hollywood version of Stevenson's "Kidnapped," on which Darryl Zanuck is spending £400,000 at this moment. Warner Baxter is the hero.

Zanuck has many embryo stars under his Twentieth Century Fox standard, but none on whom he is currently gambling as he is on Arleen Whelan.

He hopes to do with her what he did with Tyrone Power when he risked the unknown boy in the principal part in a big production ("Lloyd's of London") and made him one of the biggest stars at one jump.

Camera Debut

But to return to the sceptical Arleen. She was not easily persuaded that even one film offer was on the level. It took her barber shop boss half an hour to convince her that Bruce Humberstone, whose nails she had been working on, really was a Twentieth Century director and might possibly mean what he said about a test.

So next morning the manicurist (£3 12s. a week, plus tips) was pushed in front of a camera in a variety of costumes, from evening clothes to bathing dresses, and photographed from every angle.

Arleen seems to have a sense of humour because she says of this testing day:—

"We worked till 11.30 at night. I was nearly hysterical with fatigue. Then at the end I was told to register 'laughter through tears.' It wasn't difficult. And that was the best part of the test, they told me afterwards."

No publicity at this point of the experiment. So the inevitable happened.

Sidney Howard, the playwright working on the script of "Gone With the Wind," saw Arleen in a restaurant and said, "There is your Scarlett."

They got so excited about it that David Selznick offered Zanuck £10,000 for his contract on the services of this 21-year-old red-head who had never played in a picture in her life! Zanuck refused and put her to work in "Kidnapped."

Arleen is just a little dubious. She goes on living quietly with her family in Los Angeles, makes her own bed, and does her share of washing-up after supper. Every week she washes and waves her mother's hair to save expense.

For the record (and because I couldn't go into such expert detail) here is a feminine description of Arleen Whelan, your next star:—

Her face is oval. Irish, high-cheekboned, animated. Her eyes, set wide apart, are greyish-green, and sparkling —when they aren't dreamy. Her lips are shapely, full, quick to smile. Her chin is pert. She has freckles—very Irish, very provocative freckles.

A high, wide forehead. Her hair, deep titian, is parted in the centre, worn in a long, casual, semi-windblown bob. Thick hair, dazzling in sunlight. It is fully half of the secret of her attractiveness. Not that it blinds you, however, to her other attributes such as her youthful vitality, her trim, silk-clad figure, her small, slender hands and her shapely legs below her short skirt.

"Love, Honour and Behave"

Priscilla Lane and Wayne Morris will have the leading roles soon at the Cathay Theatre.

Dance Contest Finals

The finals in the service men's dance contest for the championship of Shanghai will be held tonight at the Majestic Ballroom. First prize will be a silver cup and $50. Four other cups and many other prizes will be awarded. The contest is open to all service men who have already competed in the eliminations, as well as those who have not yet competed. It is planned by the management to get the contest under way shortly after 10 o'clock. Contestants will be required to dance a round of the blues, waltz and foxtrot. Seven judges will determine the winners. Music at the Majestic is furnished by Oscar Lundstrem's orchestra. The service men's competition has attracted many American, British, Italian and French ballroom dancers, in addition to members of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps and the Russian Regiment.

The "Alice" Cartoon

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" is still doing tremendous business in London and abroad. It has been "dubbed" in almost every foreign language with the exception of German. It cannot be shown in Germany because of the rigid currency restrictions. Disney, the creator of the "Snow White" cartoon, demands payment of his royalties in New York in U.S. dollars. The German government refuses to send money out of the country. Result, deadlock.

Disney's next subject will be "Alice in Wonderland" and one shall see Alice as she was originally portrayed by Tenniel. Disney's brother has just returned from a trip to Europe where he arranged for the copyright of the illustrations. These will be used throughout the cartoon, and Disney's work will merely consist in animating them.

Orchestra Leaving

Abie Santos and his orchestra tonight will end their successful engagement at the Paramount Ballroom, where the band has for the past fortnight been combined with that of Gloria Andico, thus giving the Paramount a complement of 22 talented musicians. Commencing tomorrow the Santos band will open an engagement at a leading ballroom and garden. The Santos band is regarded as one of the foremost in the city and is particularly adept at Hawaiian, Cuban, Spanish and swing music. The band has four singers and a violin trio.

Wee Golf Bank Nights

The success of Wee Golf Bank Nights, held at the Pavillion every Tuesday, has resulted in Jimmy James increasing the cash prize to $100. The drawing is held at 11.30 o'clock and all persons playing wee golf at the Pavillion during the previous week are eligible for the prize. Tonight's special dish will be chop suey, served in the San Francisco style. Afternoon concerts, dinner dancing, wee golf and Jimmy's cuisine are offered at the Pavillion.

More Biblical Films

Within a year the demand for religious films in Britain has increased by 500 per cent. Even so, the number of churches and church halls to show them is very small.

Eleanor Plumer, attending the London Diocesan Conference, recently moved a resolution in favour of the wider use of films in churches.

A generation was growing up, she said, which was cinema-minded and film-conscious.

Its speech, its manners, its standard of values were set by what it saw at the pictures, but the Church had been slow to recognize the teaching and propaganda value of the film.

Studios in the Crystal Palace grounds are turning out religious films as fast as they can.

"The demand for films suitable for showing in churches, to Sunday School classes, and to Bible classes, is six times as much today as it was a year ago," Mr. T. H. Baxter, secretary of the Cinema Christian Council and associate secretary of the Religious Film Society, told the "Daily Herald."

Hollywood Titbits

Victor McLaglen gets a role after his own heart in "Hell's Kitchen," for Universal.

Bette Davis would make a "Divine Sarah" in "The Career of Sarah Bernhardt," now under consideration for her at Warners.'

Norman Taurog has been named by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer as director of "Boys' Town," forthcoming production in which Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney will have leading roles.

Myrna Loy's voluminous fan mail, compliminting her performance in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayor's "Test Pilot," contained one letter of which she is proudest. It was written by Norma Shearer.

Free Hot Dogs Served

A modern air-conditioning system, two dance floors, a comfortable balcony for dining and dancing, a fast-moving floor show and a new dance band are among the attractions offered by the Casanova. Foreign hostesses only are employed. The floor show artistes include the Dixie Sisters and the Spanish dancer, Francisca. Music is by Apollo's Gauchos. Patrons are permitted to remain in the ballroom all night. Free hot dogs are served after 11 p.m.

DEATH

PEMBERTON.—On June 22, 1938, at Peitaiho, FLORENCE MARIAN PEMBERTON, widow of the late Thomas Pemberton. 15597

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

THE OFFICIAL SECRETS ACT

The hostility to the Official Secrets Act recently passed by the British Government, and shown over the case of a newspaper man who was a short time ago fined under its provisions, will probably be intensified by the very striking case which has now been brought before the House of Commons. In the case of the newspaper man, he obtained information to the effect that the divisional police wanted a particular man, and wrote in his paper a report which to a very large extent was similar to the notice which had been circulated to police stations. The Chief Constable of the district, using powers under the Official Secrets Act, demanded that the reporter should disclose the source of his information. He refused to do so, was brought before the courts, and fined, and when he appealed it was held that a police officer was an official of the Crown and the secrets in his possession consequently official secrets. In the present case, which has considerably stirred Parliament, Mr. Duncan Sandys, Conservative Member for Norwood, gave notice to Mr. Hore-Belisha, the War Secretary, of certain questions he intended asking. Mr. Hore-Belisha in reply asked Mr. Sandys to see the Attorney General, who placed the legal position before him, and enquired if he would assist in tracing the disclosure by revealing the sources of his information. Mr. Sandys appears to have regarded the Attorney General's request as a threat of proceedings under the Act, and though the Attorney General denied this, a motion has been tabled for the appointment of a select committee to enquire into the matter and the applicability of the Official Secrets Act to Members of Parliament in discharge of their parliamentary duties. It now transpires, according to a report in the "Evening Standard," that the information on which Mr. Sandys based his questions regarding the British air defence system, was contained in highly secret documents the contents of which had apparently been revealed to Mr. Sandys. As only five persons had access to them it is stated that the authorities found it a relatively easy task to establish the identity of the person responsible for the leakage, and it is possible that he will in due course be put on trial.

Of the appropriateness of this step there can be no question, for obviously if, as it is suspected in this case, a high official has divulged information in his possession which in the interests of the nation should have been kept secret, he should be adequately dealt with. But vis-à-vis of Members of Parliament an entirely different principle is involved. No one for one moment would contend that all secrets of government should be placed before Members of Parliament. It would be impossible to maintain any degree of secrecy if that were done. But it would considerably hamper the activities of Members of Parliament if in the course of parliamentary debates or during question time, having made statements or asked questions which indicated the possession of information which should be secret, they were called upon to disclose where they obtained such information. It is conceded that there is some degree of difference between the case of Mr. Sandys and that of the newspaper reporter. In the case of the former, it is possible that the public disclosure of the information which Mr. Sandys apparently has in his possession might prove detrimental to British interests; but in the case of the latter, all that was involved was an ordinary piece of routine police information. In order, however, to test the position in its entirety, it is necessary to suppose that Mr. Sandys had no more important information in his possession than the journalist, and if instead of war secrets he had asked some question relative to irregularities in police administration, the question arises whether he would then be subject to the provisions of the Official Secrets Act. Obviously on the ruling of the Appeal Court he would, and the carriage of the doctrine which that enactment embodies to its logical conclusion would surround Government officials with a veil of secrecy which could only be pierced under serious pains and penalties. In a large number of walks of life people are trusted with information the sources of which they are in honour bound not to divulge. Journalists very often find themselves in that position, and there are cases on record where they have either suffered imprisonment or paid fines for loyal adherence to the traditions which govern their profession. It would be impossible for any Member of Parliament adequately to carry out his duties to his country and his constituency if at every turn he were to be called upon to provide information as to where he obtained the facts on which he was addressing the House of Commons. He could, of course, refuse, and so long as the interests of the nation were not jeopardized by such refusal he would be perfectly entitled to decline giving the information required.

In this particular instance, Mr. Sandys appears to have taken the very important line that it was imperative to preserve entirely the principle of free discussion in the House of Commons. That is one of the essentials of a democratic government, and it would be impossible to carry on British parliamentary traditions if it were diminished in any manner whatsoever. So far as the protection of War Office secrets is concerned the latest developments seem to show that the real culprit has been discovered without any assistance on the part of the Member involved. That side of the question may be left to stand where it is, but it will be interesting to see what the select committee appointed to go into the matter eventually decides. There is not the slightest doubt that the application of this Act in a manner definitely not contemplated by Parliament when the measure was before it has seriously interfered with the liberty of the press. That is the attitude taken by practically all the journalistic organizations in Great Britain, and, though the Government has steadfastly refused to consider amending the law, there is no doubt whatever that there will be continued agitation until appropriate amendments have been made. During the past few years various of His Majesty's judges have commented very strongly on the growing tendency towards bureaucracy in the British Government. This Act as it stands is its corner-stone, and it is intolerable that a measure entirely levelled against espionage in Great Britain should now, by court rulings (and apparently perfectly correct rulings at that), be permitted to give officials such a degree of protection that they may be able to use the courts for the purpose not only of protecting imperative interests of State, but also of themselves from criticism.

Port of Shanghai

Whatever political designs the Japanese authorities have for Shanghai, in their own interests they are showing perspicacity and farsightedness regarding the Port of Shanghai. While developing properties now in their control they are pushing their activities towards Woosung, the logical direction of development for the harbour, and what has been described as "Little Tokyo" is stretching down river towards the Yangtze. Point Island has been renamed and now bears the name of "Showa Island." Jukong Wharf, the ambitious Chinese Government scheme to shift the centre of Shanghai's shipping activity down the river, has been renamed "Iida Wharf," and is being extensively used for military purposes, as it has been since the Japanese occupied it, and commercial usage will undoubtedly follow. A big sign now stands over a plot of river frontage near Woosung village and announces that it is destined as a new Nippon Yusen Kaisha Wharf with a frontage of 1150 feet. All these indicate the importance attached to the district which the Chinese sought to develop as part of the Civic Centre scheme and to draw trade farther down river, and that the Japanese should exploit and even elaborate on it shows the appreciation they have of the logical possibilities of Shanghai, irrespective of the political questions and rights of possession involved. Another feature noted by people travelling up and down the river is the extensive dredging proceeding alongside Japanese property, old or recently acquired, which ought to give foreign wharf companies something to think about because one of the port's greatest problems since the outbreak of hostilities has been the cessation of dredging, with consequent restriction of river facilities, and faint hopes are entertained of any immediate resumption judging by present circumstances.

Presumption!

The "Shanghai Nippo" disapproves of some of the comment which it claims appears in the columns of this journal. Thus, on June 25, under the heading "Biased Views and Irrational Arguments of the 'North-China Daily News,'" the Japanese journal accuses us of publishing a leading article on June 22 on the subject of the anti-Chiang Kai-shek manifesto issued by the Peiping Provisional Government, in which the "Nippo" alleges the following passage occurs:—

> "The Japanese army has received a blow to their operations against Hankow by the dyke breaking. Upon learning from the manifesto issued by the Chinese authorities that the Chinese resistance would not end even after the fall of Hankow, the Japanese army caused the Peiping Provisional Government to propose peace and the proposal is not being made for the sake of the people. The Hankow Government will not be moved by this Japanese peace proposal."

The difficulties of translating from one language to another and then back to the original tongue is fully understood, but in the leading article dealing with the manifesto in question, which appeared on June 24 and not June 22, there is no passage in the original English which is in any way similar to the above quotation, nor is there in the leading article any portion of it which could even be paraphrased as above. In addition to that the article in question made no reference at all to the dyke-breaking or that the Japanese army received a blow from it. It would indeed, as the "Nippo" states, be presumptuous of this journal to argue like this, but in view of the facts the presumption seems to be that of the Japanese journal.

The New Tariff

From the consumers' point of view there is, perhaps, more to be said for than against the new Customs tariff. Duties on the whole are lower than in the tariff immediately preceding it (the outcry against which will be well remembered, insofar as it concerned liquor and several other imports of particular interest to the foreigner), and there are evidences that the 1931 tariff has partly formed the basis, or at any rate has influenced the creators of the new one. There is no indication, as has been expected in some quarters, that Japanese goods are specially favoured, but there are several anomalies which, in the interest of the general and perhaps more particularly the foreign public, should be eliminated. The present high duty on butter, for instance, is a matter of common concern to all foreign residents in Shanghai. In the new tariff, it is still higher than in the previous one. The consumer now pays 70 cents duty on every pound of butter he buys, an inequitable and it is to be hoped an unintended burden. This high duty on a necessary food amounts as it stands to discrimination against foreigners who, by custom, consider butter an essential part of their daily diet. Another anomaly occurs in the news-printing-paper tariff. The duty on newsprint has been approximately trebled; whereas, under the previous tariff, its value as a semi-public utility in the dissemination of news was recognised by placing it on a specially favoured basis as compared with other paper, newsprint in rolls is now burdened with a higher duty than the same quality newsprint in sheets—a complete reversal of previous tariffs, which recognised that sheet newsprint was largely used for wrapping purposes and reel newsprint for actual newspaper printing. The increased burden on newspapers, both foreign and Chinese is a severe one, as revenues are all in local currency while expenditures—in news services, paper, ink, etc.,—are practically all in gold. Quite apart, however, from the commercial aspect of newspaper publishing, there is another and more important consideration. An independent and impartial newspaper policy means a financially independent newspaper. It is no secret that a large proportion of Eastern and Far Eastern newspapers are subsidized for propaganda purposes. They are to a large extent independent of advertisement and circulation revenue, while extra costs are, likewise, not of great moment. There will be an evil tendency, therefore, for the existing free press of China, which includes most of the large foreign and Chinese journals, to be usurped by a controlled press which will be the mouthpiece of organs and cliques—a press in chains.

Is Miss Tiddles Guilty?
BRITAIN may now be divided into two classes—those who believe that the White Cat is the father of Miss Tiddles's kittens, and those who do not.

The White Cat's poignant letter raised the problem: "Can an all-white cat be the father of a litter of blacks and tabbies?" In fairness to Miss Tiddles, readers were asked to express their opinion, and a great number have taken the trouble to ask the advice of veterinary surgeons and thrash out the matter from the point of view of eugenics.

A Northampton reader writes:—

> I was so touched by the White Cat's letter that I consulted a vet. who, I am pleased to say, believes it is possible. Therefore, Miss Tiddles' honour is vindicated.

An Ipswich reader takes the opposite point of view:—

> I am so sorry for that poor White Cat. Nobody loves him and he never gets a break. I was therefore delighted when I heard that he had found a girl friend at last, and indignant when I read that she had let him down. I was so anxious to ease his mind that I looked it up in natural history books and found that it is impossible in rabbits, so I expect it's the same with cats.
>
> I never trusted that Miss Tiddles from the start. She was too good to be true with her black stockings and prim ways. I expect she will end up like Boofuls, a scandal to her mother and scorned by all.

"Inquisitor" writes:—

> In doing justice to Miss Tiddles, would it not be more to the point to ask, not whose kittens they are, but what is she doing with kittens at all while she is still a miss?

"Fair Play" writes:—

> I do not think it is Miss Tiddles who should be blamed, but the haphazard modern way of bringing up cats. In the good old-fashioned days a cat led a regular, ordered life. It was put out at 10 p.m., called in half an hour later for its supper and locked up for the night. Nowadays modern cats, like the modern girl, are allowed to go out and come in when they please, so what can you expect?

Bitter Fighting Rages Round Matung

Chinese Repulsed in Attack on Tsienshan; Offensive Against Taihu Resumed; Floods In Kiangsu Checked As Dykes Repaired

Nanking, June 29.

FRUSTRATING Chinese attempts to recapture Tsienshan, a key town on the northern side of the Yangtze west of Anking, Japanese troops of the Nakano detachment routed a force of more than 600 Chinese on Monday near Yenchupu, 12 kilometres west of Tsienshan, according to delayed dispatches from the front.

Following a severe engagement in a hilly region the Chinese retreated, leaving about 150 dead, the messages said. The Japanese suffered only a few casualties.

The Japanese mobile unit immediately started a westward pursuit of the survivors, the reports said. The Chinese were part of the forces which had been driven from Tsienshan into the Tapieh Mountains. They were said to have been planning to launch counter-attacks on Tsienshan.—Domei.

Hankow, June 29.

Fighting for possession of Matung, strategically important town which guards the Yangtze River boom, is presently continuing, according to Chinese reports, with neither side yielding any ground.

The Chinese position is believed to have shown a slight improvement by the reported capture yesterday morning of Hsiangshan, north-east of Matung, resulting in the Chinese threatening the rear of the Japanese at Matung.

Under the cover of an aerial bombardment, and of a barrage by Japanese naval guns, Japanese troops are said to have been landed yesterday at Huayang, on the north bank of the Yangtze River opposite Hsiangkou.

Apparently the object of this landing is to attack the Chinese forts on the north bank of the river, guarding the boom, according to Chinese reports.

After a considerable lull in the fighting around Anking and Tungchen, the Japanese are now reported to be resuming their offensive against Taihu.

Japanese artillery, cavalry, infantry and mechanized units are said to have launched an attack on Chinese positions ten miles east of Taihu.

Shells from Japanese guns are reported to be landing on the outskirts of Taihu.—Reuter.

Five Planes Shot Down

A total of five Chinese planes were shot down in the Yangtze area on Tuesday, according to a check made by Japanese fleet authorities.

Keeping up their bombing operations in South China, raiding naval air units attacked the Chinese aerodrome at Kian, in Kiangsi province, on Tuesday, a naval communiqué stated at noon yesterday.

Overcoming resistance offered by Chinese pursuit planes, the communiqué said, the Japanese air raiders bombed large buildings and runways at the air field.

Another naval air squadron attacked the Canton-Kowloon Railway and the stations at Shatsun, Shekku, Tangtow, Tientong, and Changmoktow. Locomotives, freight cars and tracks near these stations were "heavily damaged," the communiqué concluded.

Grand Canal Dykes Closed

Nanking, June 29.

Moving swiftly to avert a new flood threatened by the breaching of the Grand Canal dykes by Chinese troops, Japanese troops and army engineers succeeded in repairing the holes in the embankments in Kiangsu last night, according to field dispatches received here today.

Holes had been made in the canal banks near Chaokwanpa, 25 kilometres south of Kaoyu, in central Kiangsu.

The repairs were completed by troops of the Japanese Garrison at Yangchow, 60 kilometres south of Kaoyu, who were rushed to the scene after receiving reports of the destruction of the banks.

Japanese troops are guarding the canal to prevent further destruction, the messages said.—Domei.

Girl Politician Shot in Hankow

Miss Yu Wei-hua Dies In Bathroom; Jealous Gunman Gets Away

Hankow, June 29.

Charming Miss Yu Wei-hua, 31-year-old representative of the People's Political Council, was murdered here this morning by a gunman, who fired three shots into her head.

The girl, who was having a bath at the time, died instantly. The gunman escaped unnoticed.

Investigations are still in progress. Jealously is believed to be the motive of the crime.

Miss Yu was found lying face down on the bath-room floor. Her face was shattered beyond recognition by three bullets, while she still held in her hand a letter which the gunman had handed her. Written on the envelope was a request for an immediate reply. The name of the sender was given as Liu.

On the pretext of delivering the letter the gunman entered the girl's residence on Huangpi Road in the former Russian Concession and opened fire on her while she was opening the envelope, which contained only a clipping of a local daily's editorial.

Husband Now in Hongkong

Miss Yu's husband is believed to be living in Hongkong.

The deceased was a former prominent member of the National Socialist Party and had many friends in political circles, who went to view the body after hearing of her murder.

Miss Yu, a native of Szechuen province and one of the ten women delegates to the People's Political Council meeting on July 7, was a graduate of the Shanghai Law College.

After serving as District Attorney for the Pahsien district court in Szechuen, Miss Yu became principal of the Hongkong Southwest Girls Middle School. She was a member of the Standing Committee of the Tientsin Women's Cultural Promotion Committee and also concurrently head of the Committee's Publicity Department.

She was one of the directors of the War Area Service Corps of the 23rd group army, and was a delegate to the National People's Congress in 1931.

Her picture and biography had appeared in this morning's papers, featuring her views about the forthcoming People's Political Council.—Reuter.

Young Jew Hanged at Acre, Palestine

Curfew Imposed After Jewish Demonstrations

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

Jerusalem, June 29.

Ben Joseph, the young Jew on whom a military court passed the death sentence for a recent terrorist outrage, was hanged at 8 o'clock this morning at Acre.

He was the first Jew to be hanged in Palestine under British administration.

Curfew was proclaimed from 8 o'clock last night, following day-long demonstrations against the sentence on Ben Joseph. A British constable and three Jews, including women, were slightly injured during a demonstration last evening, when police dispersed the crowd with baton charges.—Reuter.

Senator Nye Leading In Primaries

Reversal of Voting May Happen from Rural Poll

Bismarck, N.D., June 28.

America's leading Congressional exponent of the isolation policy, Senator Gerald P. Nye, today was leading Mr. William Langer, the Governor, two to one in the North Dakota Republican primary elections.

With votes received from only 568 of 2,260 precincts the final count may be reversed as Senator Nye is depending on the urban vote while the Governor has appealed to the rural population to send him to the Senate. Mr. Nye had 40,638 ballots in his favour and Mr. Langer had 21,956.—United Press.

Britain Not Recognizing New China Regimes

Assurances Reiterated in House of Commons

London, June 29.

At question time in the House of Commons today Mr. R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, gave an assurance that as long as a legal government in China existed, the British Government would not recognize any government in China set up by the Japanese.—Reuter.

Refugees Returning to Canton

Many Shops Which were Shut Reopening

Some of the refugees who recently left Canton for Hongkong and Macao are returning to Canton where conditions are becoming quiet again, Chinese reports from the south said yesterday.

Food and tea shops are permitted to remain open until midnight. Many shops which closed recently, are reopening. The streets have been cleared of air raid débris.

The Refugee Relief Commission has been instructed by the authorities to provide refugees with food and lodging. Part of the refugees have been sent to Poloo to engage in land reclamation work, while 500 more are to be sent to Chukiang for a similar purpose.

Chinese Activity South Of Chientang River

Troops Apparently Fear Move by Japanese

Feverish activity by Chinese troops, concentrated in large numbers south of the Chientang River, was discerned by Japanese army aerial scouts in the last few days, a Japanese military spokesman in Shanghai said yesterday.

These forces, he said, were actively engaged in strengthening defence positions at various points, because of what the spokesman said he believed was the Chinese fear of a Japanese advance in that direction.

Panic apparently had gripped the countryside as a result of these new troop concentrations. Aerial observation showed large numbers of Chinese civilians fleeing south and west from the area.

Secrets Leakage Has Sequel in Commons

Select Committee of Inquiry; Debate Tod

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, June 29.

There were further developments in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the question put to Mr. Hore-Belisha, Secretary of State for War, by Mr. Duncan Sandys, National Conservative member for the Norwood division of Lambeth, in the House of Commons on Monday, regarding the obligation of commoners to disclose the source of secret information.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister, announced yesterday afternoon that the Government proposed to establish a Select Committee to inquire into the matter, which terms of reference proposed by Mr. Sandys himself yesterday.

The Committee, the Premier announced, will consist of ten members, and the motion is to be debated on Thursday.

Mr. Chamberlain also said that Mr. Hore-Belisha was extremely anxious to make a statement at the earliest possible moment.

Army Court of Inquiry

The War Office announced during the day that the General Officer Commanding the Eastern Command had been instructed by the Army Council to cause a Court of Enquiry to be assembled immediately to enquire into the circumstances in which the disclosure of highly secret information relating to anti-aircraft defences came to be made.

When a motion for the establishment of a Select Committee is taken tomorrow, to enquire into the allegation made by Mr. Sandys, Mr. Hore-Belisha will make a statement regarding his own position, Reuter's diplomatic correspondent learns.

It is understood that Mr. Sandys' letter to Mr. Hore-Belisha, in which secret information was given, was considered by the Army Council, and subsequently the whole matter was laid before the Prime Minister.

The Premier, it is gathered, viewed the leakage of information of this character with concern, as it was considered gravely prejudicial to the welfare of the state.

Mr. Chamberlain is understood to have approved the action which is being taken to trace the source of the leadage.

The Army Council, it is learned, is also considering whether Court Martial proceedings should be taken in regard to the matter, as it is understood that the information disclosed was absolutely vital to the safety of the state.—Reuter.

According to the "Evening Standard," the Secretary for War knows that Mr. Sandys' informant was one of five or six men, reports Havas. It was only this number of trusted persons who had information on the secrets revealed to Mr. Sandys. The latter's informant will be brought before the Council of War in the near future, the newspaper adds.—Havas.

Soviet Ship Master Fined in Japan

Moscow Alleges Japanese Violate Portsmouth Pact

Tokyo, June 29.

Convicted of entering Japanese territorial waters in violation of the military secrets protection act, the skipper of a Soviet refrigerator ship was fined Y.1,500 at Wakkanai, northern Hokkaido, yesterday. The Soviet ship had been detained off Wakkanai for several days.—Domei.

Soviet Allegations

Moscow, June 28.

On May 31, a Soviet refrigerator ship ran aground in the Laperouse Strait in the vicinity of Japanese shores. Instead of rendering assistance, customary in international relations, the Japanese authorities arrested the ship and imprisoned the captain, explaining their actions by the fact that the ship has violated the prohibited zone.

The arrest of the Soviet ship and captain is a direct violation of Clause 9 of the Portsmouth Treaty which forbids Japan to erect any military fortifications or any other military objects on the shores of this strait, and also binds the Japanese government to create no obstacles to free navigation in the strait.—Tass.

British Munitions Supply for China Suggested in Commons

Economic Assistance to Both China and Japan Through League Proposed by Labour M.P.

London, June 29.

MANY questions on China and the Far East generally were asked by members in the House of Commons yesterday. The questions included a suggestion that the British Government should guarantee a loan for the supply of military material to China; and that the economic needs of Japan and China should be assisted through the League of Nations at the conclusion of hostilities; a suggestion that Japan should not be favoured in a possible Anglo-American treaty; and an allegation that Japanese tea was being sold in England as Chinese tea.

Mr. Geoffrey Mander, Liberal Opposition member for eastern Wolverhampton, asked if Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, would consider the advisability of guaranteeing a loan for the supply of military material to China on the basis of the precedent set in the case of Turkey, and in pursuance of Britain's obligations under the League Covenant.

Sir John Simon referred Mr. Mander to the reply given by Mr. R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, to Captain Peter MacDonald, Conservative member for the Isle of Wight.

Mr. Butler stated that the "British Government has done its best wihin the limits of the situation, and is continuing examination of the question, which raises many difficulties."

Mr. Mander then asked if important British interests were not at stake, apart from anything else to justify action along these lines.

Sir John Simon replied that "These considerations are known to Mr. Mander, and to all of us, but I cannot add anything at present to my answer."

League Aid to Both Sides

The Rev. R. Sorensen, Labour member for West Leyton, asked whether the Prime Minister would propose to the League immediate consideration of meains whereby the economic needs of China and Japan could be assisted through League action, and suggested an international agreement at the conclusion of the hostilities or earlier if the opportunity were o:ered.

Mr. Butler recapitulated the recommendations already made by the League regarding China, and added that no request had been received for economic assistance towards Japan through League action.

Mr. Sorensen then asked if the Prime Minister realized that the economic factor was one of the serious causes of war, and required far more initiative from the Government than they had hitherto given to it.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Prime Minister, replied that he had already informed the House that the Government fully realized the importance of this matter.

Mr. Sorensen asked if he was satisfied with what was being done.

The Prime Minister replied in the affirmative.

Sir Louis Smith, Conservative member for the Hallam Division of Sheffield, asked Mr. Oliver Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, whether, in the negotiations for an Anglo-American Treaty, he would consider the desirability of so framing the treaty that Japan would be unable under the "most favoured nation" clause to take advantage of all the concessions made to the United Kingdom in respect of imports into the United States.

Mr. Stanley replied that the tariff treatment accorded by the United States to imports from Japan was "entirely a matter for that Government."

He assured Sir Louis that the question of ensuring that tariff concession be accorded to the United Kingdom under the trade agreement with the United States was so framed as to ensure a benefit in those classes of goods in which the United Kingdom had a major interest being fully kept in mind.

Japanese "China" Tea

Mr. David Adams, Labour member for the Consett Division of Durham, asked whether a large proportion of Japanese tea was not sold in England as Chinese tea, and whether Mr. Oliver Stanley would insist on a clearer definiton as to its origin, so as to avoid deceiving the public.

Mr. Stanley replied that he had not yet received representations on this matter, but if Mr. Adams would communicate to him any evidence, he would gladly consider it.

Mr. William Watson, Labour member for Dunfermline, asked if the President of the Board of Trade was aware of the strong discontent being expressed by rubber manufacturers in Great Britain owing to the increasing volume of imports from Hongkong and other parts of the Empire.

Recently, Mr. Watson declared, many workers had been discharged from rubber factories in England, and he would like to know what action was being taken to prevent further inroads being made on the home market.

Mr. Oliver Stanley stated in reply that he had received representations from the United Kingdom industry on the matter.

Regarding the last part of the question, he referred Mr. Watson to a reply given on a previous occasion, when he stated that he understood that the United Kingdom and Canadian manufacturers had reached a substantial measure of agreement, and that the initiative for negotiations with other Empire manufacturers was under consideration.—Reuter.

British Anti-Aircraft Defence Scheme Outlined in House of Commons

War Secretary Tells Hopes of Doubling "Terrier" Personnel to Five Divisions; Great Step Forward

London, June 28.

Important changes in the anti-aircraft defence organization, including the doubling of the Territorial Army anti-aircraft personnel, were announced in the House of Commons this afternoon by the Secretary of State for War, Mr. Leslie Hore-Belisha.

Replying to a question, Mr. Hore-Belisha made the following statement: "In 1935, the entire responsibility for anti-aircraft defence at home was vested in the Territorial Army. At that time the actual strength of the air defence formations in the Territorial Army was under 2,000, all ranks.

"On January 1, 1936, the first anti-aircraft division was formed. Its strength at the beginning of 1936 was 5,200, all ranks.

"By the beginning of January 1937, the second anti-aircraft division was formed, its strength being just under 7,000. By the present month of this year the total strength of the two divisions had risen to 43,000.

Five Divisions Wanted

"It is now proposed more than to double this figure. The existing territorial anti-aircraft units, with the addition of others about to be created, will be formed into five divisions instead of two. These five divisions will be under a Corps Commander with the rank of Lieutenant-General.

"The Corps Commander will be responsible for training and will be responsible to the Air Officer Commanding the Fighter Command for the operations.

"At the War Office, an officer with the status of Deputy Chief of the Imperial General Staff and with the rank of Lieutenant-General, to be designated Deputy Chief of the Imperial General Staff of Anti-Aircraft Defence, will be appointed.

Undivided Attention

"An Under Deputy Chief of the Imperial General Staff of the anti-aircraft defence, and a new director of anti-aircraft training and oganization, with the rank of Major-General, will be appointed.

"The purpose of the reorganization which I have outlined is to secure that undivided attention may be given to every aspect and detail of anti-aircraft defence and to ensure its rapidly expanding scope and importance."

Replying to a supplementary question, the War Secretary indicated that he expected no difficulty in obtaining the necessary additional recruits. He said they would be furnished with appropriate equipment and observed that the rate of production of guns at the present time was "quite remarkable."

A result of the changes announced by Mr. Hore-Belisha is that the Air Officer Commanding-in-Chief the Fighter Command will be in operational control of all measures of defence against attack by aircraft.—Wireless through Reuter.

Coal Bill Passed By House of Lords

Lively Debates Expected In Commons

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, June 29.

The British Government's Coal Bill, providing for the transference of royalties from private ownership to the Coal Commission, at a cost of £66,000,000 sterling, was passed at the third reading in the House of Lords yesterday, and was returned to the House of Commons.

During its passage through the House of Lords, the Government suffered a series of defeats on material points, and the amendments made by the House are likely to produce lively debates when the Bill is again considered by the House of Commons.—Reuter.

"Spy Ring" Investigator Leaves for Europe

Peace Stocks Rise In Tokyo

Tokyo, June 29.

Commenting on yesterday's setback on the Tokyo Stock Exchange, the "Chugai Shogyo," one of Japan's leading financial papers, draws attention to the fact that munitions shares are falling more heavily than "peace" issues. The paper also draws attention to what it describes as a new fall in enthusiasm on the part of traders on the Stock Exchange for recent capitalization increases. Taking these two together, the "Chugai Shogyo" suggests that peace may be anticipated in the not far distant future.—Reuter.

U.S. Rail Strike Issue Postponed

Problem Unsolved; Old Wage, Freight Rates to Continue Pending Talks

Chicago, June 28.

The Railway Labour management board today postponed the conference between the Association of Railroads and the Railway Brotherhoods on the proposed fifteen per cent. wage cut until July 20 and automatically retained the present scale of wages until July 30.

The present wage scale was retained because the Railway Labour Act requires ten days notice to be served the Railway Brotherhoods on the intention to enforce a wage cut following the completion of conferences between the two groups.

Impasse Still Unsolved

The decision to retain the present wage scale failed to solve the impasse between the employers and the employees but it postponed the threatened crisis which might have led to a major strike.

Twenty-one unions of the Railway Brotherhoods yesterday resolved to oppose the fifteen per cent. wage reduction, which was to have become effective on July 1, and threatened to strike before accepting the cut. They agreed to commence a vote on the decision to strike before August unless their group and the Association of Railroads reach a compromise.—United Press.

Spirited Defence for Imperial Airways

"Undeservedly Stigmatized" By Cadman Commission

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

London, June 29.

A remarkable protest against the findings of the Cadman Committee and the Government's action on them in so far as the Imperial Airways was concerned, was made yesterday in a spirited letter by Mr. Dismore, Assistant General Manager of Imperial Airways, to Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the Prime Minister.

Mr. Dismore declared that the land aircraft ordered for 1934-35 for the European and Empire services were still undelivered. He asserted that the Company was undeservedly stigmatized for having taken no action to equip itself with a new fleet for Europe.

The letter pointed out that the former managing director, Mr. Woods Humphery, (who resigned in consequence of the findings) was set the task in 1928 of trying to look forward ten years and plan air services to India with diminishing subsidies.

A similar task was later set for the services to Malaya and South Africa, for which they had to look five years ahead.

The management and the staff, the letter concluded, had "beat those tasks."—Reuter.

U.S. Not Seeking Aid of Arms Boom

Hyde Park, June 28.

The United States were trying to solve the unemployment problem without engaging in a massive rearmament programme, President Roosevelt told Press correspondents in an interview here today.

Despite the extensive naval programme, the country's expenditure on rearming itself was still only 15 or 16 per cent. of the whole budget, he pointed out. In other countries, rearmament accounted for from 45 to 50 per cent. of the total expenses, he concluded significantly.—Havas.

Italians May Leave Spain Soon

Rome Eager to Make Gesture to Britain; Fascist Troops Already in Rear; Lord Perth Sees Duce

Rome, June 29.

LORD Perth, British Ambassador in Italy, yesterday visited Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, and is believed to have discussed the latest developments, aiming at an attempt by Great Britain and Italy to find a rapid solution to the Spanish problem. This solution, it is understood, includes the enforcement of the British scheme for the withdrawal of volunteers. The bombing of British ships in Spain is also understood to have been discussed.—Reuter.

Rome, June 29.

A withdrawal from the front, or perhaps even a definite repatriation of the Italian legionnaires in Spain, irrespective of whether or not the Non-Intervention Sub-Committee's scheme is materialized, may take place in the near future, authoritative diplomatic quarters here believe today.

They say Signor Benito Mussolini may decide upon these measures as a result of Monday's conference with Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Chief of the General Staff and Duke of Addis Ababa; and General Alberto Pariani, Under-Secretary of State for War.

The Italian General Staff are convinced that Gen. Francisco Franco will now carry off victory in the Spanish struggle, especially if the Republicans are deprived of the slightests possibilities of obtaining foreign supplies, it is understood.

Rome's alleged determination to recall the legions in the Iberian peninsula is said to have arisen out of the desire to have materialized as speedily as possible the Anglo-Italian Accord of April 16.

Fascist circles wish to raise no more difficulties for the British Premier, whose stand in office is considered the most solid guarantee of Anglo-Italian reconciliation, diplomats say.—Havas.

More Portuguese Aid

Paris, June 29.

Italian soldiers now in Spain number only about 30,000, and two-thirds of these are stationed in the interior following the Tortosa battles when Italian forces retreated 30 kilometres in one day, it is learnt from reliable sources.

Rome's volunteer airmen are also confining their activities, limiting operations only to chasing enemy aircraft while German and Spanish aviators carry out bombing assignments. At the same time that these reports come to hand, other despatches reveal growing hostility towards Italians in Nationalist Spain. Numerous incidents of late bolster these reports.

Observers believe the repatriation of the first contingent of Italian volunteers in Spain will assume diplomatic and not military significance as a mere gesture towards Great Britain, made with the aim of speeding the enforcement of the Anglo-Italian Accord.

Staff Officers Remaining

Observers here declare today that the Non-Intervention Sub-Committee's "withdrawal of foreign combatants plan" will surely be put into effect, contrary to previous fears that it would be sidetracked at the last minute.

Even when Italian volunteers are repatriated, however, it is thought that Italian Staff officers will not cease to co-operate with General Franco. Should Rome's legions be withdrawn before the enforcement of the British plan, German and Portuguese assistance will still be given the Nationalists, politicians add.

There are some 6,000 Germans in Gen. Franco's areas, it is learnt, but these are mainly specialists in technical artillery, air force and communications works.

Portuguese incorporated in the Nationalist Army number over 10,000, however, since recruitment of these men increased greatly of late. Burgos is even now examining the possibilities of forming two separate Portuguese brigades, authoritative quarters declare.—Havas.

Gen. Franco Angered by Action by France

Release of Gold Holdings Makes Amity "Impossible"

Burgos, June 28.

General Francisco Franco, Commander of the Nationalist forces, today said that France's action in releasing the gold which the Republicans had deposited in the Bank of France made impossible future friendly relations with Nationalist Spain.

He contended that the gold in the Bank of Spain held at the inception of the civil war belonged to a private banking society and not to the Spanish state.—United Press.

Serious Rioting Breaks Out in Memel

Nazis, Lithuanian Sailors In Street Brawl

Kaunas, June 29.

Serious rioting broke out at Memel last night, when the crew of a Lithuanian steamer turned fire-hoses on 7,000 Germans who had assembled to greet the arrival of a German steamer.

The Germans were singing Nazi songs for two hours while awaiting the steamer's arrival.

Street fighting ensued, the combatants employing sticks, stones and other missiles.

A German youth was killed, and fifty persons, including several women, were injured.

The Nazis smashed the windows of a synagogue, and of Lithuanian buildings, while the Memel police looked on inactive.

The Lithuanian police eventually fired warning shots dispersing the crowds. They then ordered the closure of the streets.—Reuter.

Non-Intervention Plan Progresses

Deadlock on Payments For Withdrawals Now Broken; Share Basis

London, June 29.

Further progress was made in the scheme for the withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain during a meeting of the Non-Intervention Sub-Committee yesterday, when one of the main obstacles to the successful operation of the scheme, that of financing it, was to a great extent overcome, Reuter's diplomatic correspondent learns.

Among the helpful suggestions made at the meeting was that by the representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany, who said that their Governments were each ready to pay one-fifth of the general cost of the withdrawal plan.

The Soviet representative suggested that each of the five great Powers should bear one-sixth of the expense of organizing the evacuation of volunteers from Spain, and of maintaining control officers in Spanish ports. Other members of the committee, it was suggested, should bear jointly the remaining sixth of the cost.

The Soviet representative also suggested that the Republican Government and General Franco bear the expense of maintaining the volunteers prior to their repatriation, while the expenses of their transportation from Spain, he said, should be borne by all the Governments concerned, in proportion to the number of their nationals serving as volunteers.

Costs of Withdrawals

A communique stated that the representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany had declared their Governments' readiness to pay one-fifth of the general cost of the withdrawal plan, totalling between £1,000,000 sterling and £1,500,000 sterling.

The communique also stated that the representatives had agreed to certain other financial details.

All of the representatives serving on the Sub-Committee, it was stated, declared that their Governments were ready to repay the cost of transporting volunteers to their respective countries.

The representatives of Britain, France, Italy and Germany also stated that their Governments were prepared to pay a quarter of the sum which might be required to provide the total needed after the payment of the Soviet contribution.

Burgos Allegation Refuted

Earlier this month, it was learned from official quarters yesterday, a list of twelve ships, ten of which were British, was circulated by General Franco's headquarters, together with allegations that these ships were carrying illegal supplies.

Reports of the non-intervention board show that no breach of the Non-Intervention Agreement has been committed by any British ship named on General Franco's list. The owners very strongly denied that their vessels were carrying goods prohibited under the 1936 act.

These ships, it is understood, have always carried non-intervention observers.

The British agent in Burgos has been instructed to inform the authorities there of the results of these investigations, in the hope of preventing further circulation of such allegedly unfounded charges against British merchant ships.—Reuter.

Burgos Concessions to British Shipping

H. M. Agent Returning with Gen. Franco's Reply

London, June 29.

Sir Robert Hodgson, the British Agent in Nationalist Spain, left Burgos today for England. He is believed to be bringing Gen. Francisco Franco's reply to the recent British representations regarding the bombing of British ships.

Concessions by Gen. Franco in favour of British shipping were communicated to the press in Rome today by Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister.

Count Ciano indicated that the Nationalist Commander-in-Chief was already taking measures to see that British ships in navigation were not attacked by Nationalist aeroplanes, when it was possible for airmen to discriminate in favour of the British flag during raids on Spanish ports.—Reuter.

Tokyo's Conditions to "Consider" Peace

Gen. Chiang Must Submit To New Government

Tokyo, June 29.

Japan may "consider" halting her drive on Hankow if Gen. Chiang Kai-shek resigns and surrenders himself to the authorities of the new Chinese Government.

This statement was made here today by a spokesman for the Japanese Foreign Office when questioned if the Japanese operations along the Yangtze would be abandoned if Gen. Chiang resigned.

The retirement of Gen. Chiang, the spokesman said, was "an internal affair of China." The Japanese Government, however, would take the matter up for consideration if Gen. Chiang resigned and also placed himself under the orders of the new Chinese regime, pledged to co-operation with Japan and opposition to the Communist International.—Domei.

Another "Ta Tao" Official Slain

Zung Teh-ming Waylaid in Yu Ya Ching Road; Two Others Wounded

Pistols blazed again in the troubled Louza district shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning when Chinese assassins waylaid and killed another prominent "Ta Tao" Government official and wounded two other Chinese, in Yu Ya Ching Road near the Shanghai Gas Company office. It was the fifth attack on persons connected with the "Ta Tao" administration or the Japanese-sponsored Chinese Civic Association in about ten days.

Yesterday morning's victim, Mr. Zung (or Chen) Teh-ming, also known as Chen Pai-liang, 24 years old, was the Chief of the Shipping Control Office, Bureau of Communications of the Shanghai Municipal Administration ("Ta Tao" Government), with headquarters in Pootung. He was said formerly to have been a detective in the Settlement Police and a member of the Chinese Bureau of Public Safety. Besides holding the important shipping control post in the "Ta Tao" administration, he was chairman of the Inland Waters Boatmen's Trade Association, Kwang Teh Road, Chapei.

Mr. Zung was riding in his private rickshaw, en route from his residence in North Thibet Road to the Peking Road Jetty, at Yu Ya Ching and Amoy Roads when the assassins struck from their ambush at exactly 7.53 a.m. Two Chinese leaped close to the passing rickshaw and fired five shots in quick succession from a pistol and a revolver. Zung was wounded three times from behind: in the back of the neck, near the right kidney and in the right thigh. He rolled out of the rickshaw and slumped to the ground in a pool of blood. The rickshaw puller, who had been shot in the head, likewise fell to the pavement. A passing Chinese toppled over with a flesh wound in the thigh. Scores of others fled in terror.

The murderers turned on their heels and ran into Amoy Road. They escaped and they had not been apprehended at a late hour yesterday.

District Searched

Responding to an alarm, a large party of police turned out from the Louza Station, close by, under Insp. A. H. Chamberlain and Detective-Insp. G. J. Bennett. They started searching the immediate neighbourhood and were soon reinforced by the Police Reserve Unit, under Mr. W. F. Fairbairn, Assistant Commissioner. Streets, alleyways, lodging-houses and shops in the populous district were carefully scrutinized and many persons questioned. The assassins, however, had vanished in the maze of crowded thoroughfares.

Throughout the day, search parties combed the area while men of the First Battalion, the Seaforth Highlanders, patrolled the streets in full campaign kit.

Succession of Attacks

The spate of terroristic attacks on Chinese known to be friendly with the Japanese authorities started on the night of June 18, when Mr. Jen Pao-an, Chief of the Land Office of the "Ta Tao" Government, was riddled with Mauser bullets in a famous Pekingese restaurant in Foochow Road, Louza district.

On June 24, two lawyer's assistants were shot in an office building at 81 Lloyd Road, Louza district, one of them succumbing to his wounds. A few hours later four Chinese were shot in a room at the Sun Sun Hotel, Louza district. One of these, a banker, died two days later.

On June 25, Mr. Koo Shing-yi, rice magnate and one of the heads of the Shanghai Chinese Civic Association, was murdered in a lane near the intersection of Rue Montauban and Rue du Consulat.

It is known that some of the prominent Chinese connected with the "Ta Tao" administration or other Japanese sponsored enterprises are extremely cautious in their movements for fear of assassination. While some of them move about accompanied by bodyguards, in armoured cars or in ordinary vehicles, others stay in Pootung, Nantao, or north of the Soochow Creek and in no circumstances show their faces in the Settlement south of the Creek or in the French Concession.

Food Shortage in Refugee Zone

Urgent Need Emphasized; Japanese Transport Firm Established

More than 50,000 refugees in the Jacquinot Zone of Nantao will face starvation if no relief is provided for them next month, a Chinese report claimed yesterday.

The food supply for the refugees of this zone is sufficient to last until the end of this month only, the report said. Public contributions for the relief of the refugees are being sought.

Facilitating transportation of commodities from the Settlement and French Concession to the former Chinese city area, a Japanese merchant has established a Nantao Transport Company to operate a fleet of motor-trucks.

At present daily necessities and other commodities can be taken from the foreign areas to the former Chinese city only by vessels by way of Pootung. The result is that commodities in the Chinese City cost much more than in the foreign areas.

The firm established by the Japanese merchant will transport goods purchased in the foreign areas by Nantao shops. The goods will be delivered at the Porte de L'Est iron boundary gate of the French Concession. This will result in a substantial reduction in transportation expenses. It is expected that daily necessities in Nantao will hereafter cost less.

Robbers Steal Money And Jewellery

Four men, two of them being armed with pistols, entered a Chinese house at No. 3, Passage 87, Route des Soeurs, yesterday and held up the occupants. They escaped with jewellery and money to the value of $71, the alarm being sounded a considerable time after they had left.

Foreign Woman Held Up

While walking along Yu Yuen Road, in the vicinity of Crescent Avenue at about 7 p.m. last night, a foreign woman was held up by an armed Chinese and robbed.

Pointing a pistol at the woman, the robber seized her handbag and decamped without firing any shots.

Inland Transport Cos. Do Good Trade

Rice, Vegetables Brought From Country Districts

Shipping and bus companies operating between Shanghai and inland cities are doing a roaring business, Chinese reports said yesterday.

The Shanghai-Nanking and Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo Railways maintain only a skeleton service because of lack of rolling stock and locomotives.

Since the hostilities shifted westward from the Shanghai area, more than 40 inland river shipping firms and more than 20 bus service companies have been established, the reports said. All the shipping firms have offices near Soochow Creek jetties in the Settlement.

Rice and fresh vegetables are brought here from the inland districts daily both by water and land, while goods sent from Shanghai consist mostly of daily necessities, such as flour and cigarettes.

Persons going to or departing from inland districts, must first apply to the proper government authorities for permits. They are required to carry certificates to show they have received anti-cholera inoculations.

Hongkong Drug Racket Uncovered in Cairo

French Newspaper Tells Of New Police Success

Paris, June 28.

The police in Cairo have received two very secret dossiers and from the information gained in these records it is hoped that "mysterious drug traffickers awaited in Port Said from Hongkong," will be arrested, the "Paris Soir" reports today.

The news organ claims that the smugglers now awaited in Egypt are part of the worldwide drug-trafficking organisation uncovered recently when M. Lion, rich Parisian hotel-owner, was found to be involved in the sensational case.

The Narcotics Intelligence Bureau, foubded by Russel Pasha was responsible for the discovery and deciphering of cables exchanged between the smugglers. The information obtained permitted them to continue their investigations to the present point of culmination, the "Paris Soir" concludes.—Havas.

Bomb in Tientsin Custom House

Infernal Machine Found Before Exploding

Tientsin, June 29.

Indicating the further activities of terrorists in the foreign concessions here, a time bomb was planted in the French Concession Customs House yesterday.

The bomb was similar to that which exploded in the Cathay Cinema, in the French Concession, on June 5.

The bomb was detected before it went off, and the French police were summoned.

The wires were severed, and the bomb was rendered harmless.

The French police are investigating the wrappers which surrounded the bomb, in an attempt to find a clue to the identity of the perpetrators of the outrage.—Reuter.

"Robin Hood" is a magnificent picture. Anticipating an unusual treat, the audience at the Grand Theatre last night filled every available seat and were duly provided with dramatic romance of a sort that comes only rarely to Shanghai. The well-known story of Robin Hood and his merry band of outlaws who were ever ready to strike a blow for King Richard and England but who made life full of unpleasant surprises for the traitorous Prince John and his Norman knights, is made more absorbing than ever before by Warner Brothers Studio. The powerful cast make the most of material that would be hard to spoil even by weak players and, with the addition of technicolour, the effective use of which is obviously progressing steadily, all things combine to furnish entertainment that should draw the crowds over a long run. The dashing Mr. Errol Flynn makes an ideal Robin Hood, whether insolently mocking Prince John, wielding a sword in ever-victorious combat, or wooing the fair Maid Marion. The villainy of Mr. Claude Rains as Prince John is, however, overshadowed by the ability of Mr. Basil Rathbone to place himself in an ever more detestable light as Sir Guy and to afford a thoroughly gratifying object for the loyal sword of the hero.

Although much of the film deals with mortal combat, steel clashing against steel, the less dramatic and more humourous sides are amply treated with Mr. Herbert Hundin stimulating many a laugh.—R.R.R.

Highest Tide of Month Today

Height Above Lowest Low Water of 12.18 Feet at Noon; Flooding Possible

At two periods today, Shanghai will experience the highest tide of the month, almost thirteen feet above lowest low water (which, incidentally, was registered just before the middle of the current month). It is possible that there may be an attempt on the part of the river to flood the Bund and adjacent streets, but flood-gates and pumps are expected to deal with the "menace." And in any event, Shanghai is about used to floods, thanks to the heavy rains of a week or so ago.

The height of the tide has been gradually rising and today reaches its climax, starting to drop off again immediately tomorrow. The heights above lowest low water for the period Monday to Saturday (both days inclusive) this week are as follows: 11.15 feet; 11.95 ft.; 12.18 ft.; 11.40 ft.; 11.28 ft.; and 11.15 ft.

High tide today off the Bund should be at a few minutes after noon and after midnight. The latter should not worry very many people even if the river did flood, but the former may prove annoying to rush-hour crowds. The Public Works Department, however, has its flood-gates fully prepared to meet the situation and is ready to rush them into position at a moment's notice. These, of course, are placed across the gaps in the flood-wall caused by the entrances to the various pontoons and have the effect of raising the Bund level above normal flood-level.

It is expected that most of the buildings along the Bund will follow the example set by the Custom House in having ready suitable "flood-walls" of their own, so that in the event of a typhoon or the Yangtze floods piling up the waters in the Whangpoo River and thus over-taxing the normal flood-preventive measures they will not be caught napping and find their basements and cellars under water.

Two or three days ago, the Custom House flood barriers were in position, being tested so that in time of need they can be put into place without delay; the last time there was a large flood on the Bund the Custom House suffered with the rest.

It is perhaps unfortunate for Shanghai that the typhoon season should coincide wits the middle of the period of high tides. From the middle of July until the end of August is the "best" time of the year for typhoons to come around this city, and although none have visited Shanghai yet, one or two have been reported in southern waters. The high tide period lasts well into August, and it has happened on more than one occasion during recent years that the highest level above lowest low water has been uncomfortably near when a typhoon has arrived.

Hence the precautions along the Bund. It is true that, as already pointed out, the high tide level starts dropping again tomorrow. But high tides are due again on July 12 and July 26, and flooding can be expected on either day—or both.

World Press Denounced By Berlin Papers

Austro-German Disputes Among Nazis Are "Lies"

Berlin, June 29.

The world's press was the target for a fierce attack in last night's Berlin newspapers for reports of alleged friction between Austrian and Reich Nazis.

The German reader, incidentally, was informed for the first time that the world press "for the past fortnight has been spreading lies to the effect that great dissatisfaction reigns in what was formerly Austria."

The reports are described as "mad, low and illogical."

The "Nachtausgabe," denying that Hitler had visited Austria, says "the Fuehrer never had any reason to occupy himself with Austrian affairs, other than within the limits affecting the settlement of problems connected with what was formerly Austria.

"There have been no conflicts, revolts or arrests," the paper adds, "but only a flood of lies."—Reuter.

Schuschnigg "Protected"

Vienna, June 28.

Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, former Chancellor of the Federal State of Austria, is still in Vienna, officials here reaffirmed today.

The statesman, who resigned shortly before the Anschluss of mid-March, is declared to be a "prisoner on parole" for his own sake. The authorities claim they are protecting him from "hostile demonstrations by the population."

Quiet prevails here despite rumours of a revolt in the Nazi Party and among the Storm Troopers. These rumours arose from reliable information that 100 Storm Troopers were arrested here in the last few weeks. Authoritative quarters say the reasons for the arrests were not political, though they would not specify the exact charges.

The arrested men are in Vienna, they point out, and have not been taken to concentration camps.—Havas.

Cordelia Arrives Safely At Karachi

Karachi, June 29.

The Imperial Airways flying-boat Cordelia, which set out with the flying-boat Camilla from Southampton on Sunday en route for Sydney inaugurating the longest direct air route in the world, has arrived here on schedule.

It has now been decided that the Cordelia, which was being accompanied as far as Singapore by the Camilla, carrying mail, will complete the remainder of the trip to Sydney alone.—Reuter.

Huge Aviation Plant for Montreal

Montreal, June 28.

M. Henri Potez, French air magnate, and a delegation representing the interests of France, Britain and Canada, were learnt today to have conferred with the Labour Minister of Quebec Province over possibilities of establishing a large factory for the construction of bombing, pursuit and large commercial craft to be erected near Montreal.—Havas.

Moscow to Vladivostok Flight in 24 Hours

Moscow, June 29.

The two Soviet airmen, Kokkinaki and Briandinsky, completed their non-stop flight from Moscow to Vladivostok in 24 hours. The distance covered was 4,375 miles.—Reuter.

Rains Cause Heavy Damage in Japan

Houses Collapse, Rivers Overflow, Many Killed

Tokyo, June 29.

Inestimable damage has resulted throughout Japan from a series of cloudbursts which have descended upon the country during the past several days, it is reported today.

The rivers have all been flooded, the banks and extensive sectors of rice fields inundated and crops ruined. Over 100,000 houses have been swept away, the low lying part of Tokyo suffering particularly severe damage.

Landslides and destruction of railway lines and telephone cables were reported from all parts of the country. The number of casualties has not yet been ascertained although the total is believed to be high.

A report from Yuhosuka states that a school house there collapsed after the foundation was washed away and a great number of children have been killed.—Trans-Ocean.

One Chinese Left in Railway Bureau

Other Jobs In Peiping Held by Japanese

Peiping, June 29.

There is now only one Chinese employed among the senior staff of the Peiping Railway Administration, which is the reorganized Peiping office of the South Manchuria Railway and which now has under its control the operation of all Chinese railways running into Peiping, states a reliable Chinese report.

The sole Chinese is the chief of the second section of the department of railway guards. Under the managing director of the administration there are seven departments, the directors of all of which are Japanese.

The Administration at present operates four Chinese railways, the Kinhan, the Pingsui, the Liaoning and the Tsinpu as well as the newly Japanese constructed Peiping-Kupeikow Railway.—Reuter.

Franco-Polish Relations Reviewed in Paris

Polish Ambassador Brings Replies to Questions

Paris, June 29.

France's relations with Poland were reviewed yesterday in conversations between M. Georges Bonnet, French Foreign Minister, and M. Jules Lukasiewicz, Polish Ambassador in Paris.

M. Lukasiewicz had just returned from Warsaw, bringing replies to various questions put by the French Government with a view to clarifying the position between the two governments, and strengthening their collaboration.

The Polish Government's replies, it is understood, are considered satisfactory by the French Government, although details of the questions are at present unknown.

Some questions, it is presumed, concerned the recent steps, attributed to Col. Joseph Beck, Polish Foreign Minister, taken with a view to the formation of a "neutral bloc" between Russia and Germany.—Reuter.

Attempt to Climb Mt. Everest Abandoned

British Climbers Reached 27,000 Feet Up

SPECIAL TO THE "N.C.D.N."

Kalimpong, June 29.

The latest British attempt to climb Mount Everest has been abandoned after the climbers had reached Camp 6, which is at a height of 27,000 feet.

Captain Oliver returned to Kalimpong today, while the remainder of the party is expected in ten days.

This is the fifth unsuccessful attempt on Mount Everest.

There had been no news of the climbers for a considerable time. The long silence had caused speculation and a certain amount of anxiety. The expedition was not equipped with wireless.—Reuter.

Japanese Population Shows Increase

Tokyo, June 29.

With births totalling 2,180,589 against 1,208,079 deaths, the population of Japan Proper showed an increase of 972,510 last year, the Statistics Bureau of the Cabinet announced today.

Japan Conscripts Labour, Cotton

Textile Industry Prices Fixed, Only Substitutes For Home Consumption

Tokyo, June 28.

The Cabinet today decided to invoke new sections of the Mobilization Bill dealing with the conscription of labour for the munitions industry. The new sections will probably become effective in August and deals with wages of skilled and unskilled labour, the registration and occupational qualifications of all workers.

This plan was desirable, the Cabinet announced, to adjust the rush of workers for lucrative munitions jobs. It also permits the drafting or graduates from technical schools where necessary.

Another drastic measure announced by the Ministry of Commerce of four decrees immediately to prohibit the manufacture of cotton yarn piece goods for any domestic purposes with the exception of military needs.

The decrees permit the manufacture of cotton yarn piece goods for export, but impose a ruling for the provision of substitutes for home consumption. The decrees also involve price-fixing of staple fibre products.—United Press.

South Shansi in State Of Disorder

Japanese Sending Troops To Clear Up Province

Peiping, June 29.

According to Japanese military reports the number of Chinese troops in Shansi has been increasing during the past month and there are now 27 divisions in the province, chiefly in the southern half.

Concerning conditions in Shansi the military spokesman said in north Shansi comparative peace and order reigned, but in the south it was "quite the contrary."

Japanese garrisons in Shansi were frequently attacked and the railway was also often attacked and portions of it destroyed, interrupting traffic. He claimed that important towns in south Shansi were still in Japanese hands. Japanese reinforcements, he added, were being sent to Shansi shortly with the object of clearing all Chinese troops from the province.

Japanese aeroplanes had been active in bombing Chinese troops crossing the Yellow River near Tungkwan on their way into Shansi.—Reuter.

Peace Feeling Grows In Hankow?

Japanese Foreign Minister Reports on Change

Tokyo, June 29.

"An atmosphere favouring a peace move apparently is beginning to prevail in Hankow Government circles, which are now menaced by the Japanese drive," Gen. Kazushige Ugaki, Foreign Minister, told the Cabinet yesterday.

"But Japan must go ahead with her fixed policy," he declared.

Commenting on the fisheries issue with the Soviet Government, the Foreign Minister expressed an optimistic view. He said he hoped the question will be settled "before long."—Domei.

Yiuping Landing Untrue

Hongkong, June 29.

Reports published in yesterday's Hongkong papers regarding an alleged Japanese landing at Yiuping are believed here to be incorrect, and there is a total absence of excitement in Swatow and the district around it.

Even Japanese 'planes have not been paying their customary reconnoitring visits.—Reuter.

British-Scandinavian Naval Negotiations

Pact to Be Submitted to Other Powers Soon

London, June 29.

Negotiations between naval experts of Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries of Sweden, Norway and Finland, have resulted in the conclusion of a tentative accord. This agreement is on the same lines as the Naval Treaty of 1936 concluded between Britain, Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Finland.

The accord is adapted to the special needs of the Scandinavian fleets, They are understood to be authorized to construct special units of a class between cruisers and battleships, including 8,000-ton vessels armed with eight-inch guns.

Before this agreement is finally signed, it will be submitted to Paris and Washington and then to Berlin and Moscow. Upon the approval of these Powers, the final signature will take place.—Havas.

Japanese Woman Poisoned

Suffering from poisoning a Japanese woman was removed from No. 4 Park Lane near Haining Road yesterday, and taken to the Fooming Hospital.

Bank of Canada Nationalized

Ottawa, June 28.

Commons without a record vote today approved the Government bill completely nationalizing the Bank of Canada.—United Press.

German Plane Down in Czech Territory

Prague, June 28.

A German plane flying over Czech territory yesterday was forced by the Air Police to land at Cheske Budesovich, in South Bohemia. The pilot was found to be a non-commissioned officer of the Ulm Dornstadt military school. As explanation, this man said he had lost his way. After the usual formalities, he was permitted by the authorities to leave for Germany.—Havas.

Traffic Accidents

Three Chinese were injured as the result of traffic accidents yesterday evening, the first accident occurring at the junction of Nanking and Yunnan Roads when a man was knocked down by a motor lorry. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital suffering from concussion.

In the second accident a Chinese woman, who was knocked down by a bicycle between Peking and Fokien Roads, sustained a fractured right shoulder which necessitated her removal to hospital. Knocked down by a tram at about 8.30 p.m. a Chinese was taken to hospital suffering from a lacerated leg.

Germany's Motives Suspected

Hankow Believes Recall Of Envoy Inspired by Pro-Japan Policy

Hankow, June 29.

Chinese circles expressed the belief that Germany's decision to recall her Ambassador to China was apparently an "attempt to seek Japanese co-operation in the event of European hostilities," when interviewed by Reuter's correspondent yesterday.

Germany's action, Chinese circles pointed out, while said to have been taken primarily on account of European developments, now affects the Far Eastern situation.

Legally, it is pointed out, advisers' contracts with the Chinese Government concern the advisers individually, and the German Government has no right to interfere.

Nevertheless, the Chinese Government, these circles declare, is doing all in its power to make concessions agreeing in principle with the withdrawal of all advisers, in view of traditional Sino-German friendship.

The German advisers did not leave on yesterday's "International Express," but will leave later in one group, it is understood.—Reuter.

Envoy Postponed Departure

Hongkong, June 29.

Dr. Oscar Trautmann, German Ambassador to China, who had originally planned to leave for Germany on Sunday, is now postponing his departure until the next sailing of the N.D.L. Line, which means that he will leave on the Potsdam.

It is believed that the reason for the postponement of his departure is that his wife is ill in the War Memorial Hospital here.—Reuter.

Drug Manufacturer Given 15 Years

Sentence of fifteen years' imprisonment was passed on Dien Nee, aged 54, by the First Special District Court yesterday on charges of manufacturing red pills. His wife, Dien Zung-sz, was given two years' imprisonment, while another woman, Lee Sung-sz, twelve years for selling narcotics.

The trio were arrested by detectives of Sinza Station in several raids. Twenty-seven bags of pills, containing 239 ounces, were seized in a Sinza Road house occupied by the man.

U.S. Sells Vast Sum Of War Materials

China, Japan, Soviets Are Chief Purchasers

New York, June 29.

The value of American exports of aircraft during May was $7,829,000, reaching a new high level.

Argentina was the largest buyer, purchasing $2,344,000 worth, and other purchasers included Japan, which bought $1,420,000 worth, China, which bought $947,000 worth, and the Soviet, which bought $924,000 worth.—Reuter.

U. S. exports of planes and materials for the construction of aircraft, increased by $8,000,000 during May, says Havas which computes this as eleven per cent. over the figure for April and a 102 per cent. gain in comparison with the exports of May, 1937.—Havas.

SIX American missionaries returned from here to their mission post in Soochow by train on Tuesday, says a report to the "Hwa Mei Chen Pao."

THE distribution of the Aurora University diplomas will be held today at 9 a.m. in the University Hall. All friends are cordially invited.

THE Federal Court in San Francisco has restored American citizenship to Mrs. Edith Johnsen Kawassaki whose husband is attached to the Japanese Embassy in Peiping. Mrs. Kawassaki is 53 years old.

THE Mayor of the Shanghai-Woosung Municipal Office, Mr. Soo Hsiwen, is considering a plan for the opening of a municipal ferry service across the Whangpoo River, states a report to the "Standard".

THE Shanghai Medical Society will hold their annual social meeting at the Cercle Sportif Française today at 7.30 p.m., dinner at 8 p.m., dress informal. After dinner Mr. J. B. Powell will give an address.

DR. Mei Yi-ling, Hsu Chung-yin and Fang Yi-chih, recommended by the Ministry of the Interior, have been appointed experts in the Experimental Station of the National Health Administration, states a message to the "Sin Wan Pao."

THE Executive Yuan, at a meeting held on Tuesday, decided to ask the Ministry of Economics and the National Relief Commission to take precautionary measures against the overflowing of the Yangtze and Han Rivers, says a dispatch to the "Sin Wan Pao."

FRENCH Cruiser Lamotte Picquet sailed on Tuesday night for North China, with Vice-Admiral Le Bigot, Commander of the French Naval Forces in the Far East, on board. In the Vice-Admiral's absence, Capt. Arzur, Commander of the French gunboat Dumont D'Urville, remains in charge of the local French Naval station.

A "TROOP-comforting" mission sent by the Central Government authorities, which is headed by Messrs. Lei Cheng and Wei Shou-yung, and the Kweichow War Aid Corps returned to Nanchang from the Central China front on Sunday, says a dispatch to the "Standard." Both groups, it is reported, immediately entrained for Changsha en route to Hongkong.

THE health report of the French Municipality for the week ending June 25, shows that the total number of deaths from all causes amongst the foreign and Chinese population in the Concession were Foreign 8 and Chinese 405. Deaths from notifiable diseases were Foreigners, Tuberculosis 2, and Chinese, Typhoid Fever 32; Tuberculosis 18; Cholera 11; Typhus Fever 3; Measles 3 and Beri-beri 2.

OWING to the inconvenient premises in which the school is temporarily housed, the annual prize distribution of the Ellis Kadoorie School, which took place yesterday, was a very simple affair. The Acting Headmaster Mr. H. S. Bartley, B.A. thanked the Former Students Association for their generosity in giving the school 5 prizes annually, in memory of the late Mr. R. G. Dowie F.E.I.S., headmaster 1903—1928. These prizes were presented by Mr. Wang Tsze Kong the president of the Association.

Distribution of Prizes, Certificates At Public School for Girls

Mr. W. J. Hawkings and Headmistress on Need for Courage on Part of Girls Now Facing Life

A suggestion that children in Shanghai might do well to study China and things Chinese more than they do was made by Mr. W. G. Hawkings when he presided at this annual prize-giving of the Public School for Girls, Yu Yuen Road, yesterday morning. The certificates and prizes were presented to the successful pupils by Mrs. Lancelot Giles.

Addressing the school after a programme of songs by the pupils, Mr. Hawkings spoke particularly to those girls leaving school and pointed out the need for courage to face life and its difficulties. Two of his daughters, he mentioned, had been connected with the school, one as an assistant in the Kindergarten and the other as a pupil: the latter, he said, was now being trained as a kindergarten mistress in Bedford, England.

Many of the girls leaving this term would also travel far, he went on; no one knew what life held for them, but it was certain they would need courage. Mr. Hawkings arranged to have a copy of Sir James Barrie's rectorial address on this same subject at St. Andrews to be sent to those girls leaving the Public School this term.

Following the presentation of prizes and certificates, Miss A. S. M. Alexander, headmistress of the school, said:—

There is no need for me to recount the details of our difficulties of the school year we are just bringing to a close. That it has been a difficult year I think you will all agree. Everyone in Shanghai has been called upon to make sacrifices.

Effect of Hostilities

To most of the children in the hall at the moment the local upheaval meant repeated changes of time and place of lessons. To many who had entertained hopes of a Cambridge Certificate it brought failure and disappointment. And for quite a large number of girls it meant the untimely end of school days.

Throughout all those difficult times I have been astonished at the amazing rapidity with which the girls adapted themselves to new conditions and environment. Again and again I have had occasion to be proud of public school girls and the courageous spirit they showed in the face of disappointment and failure.

And then, I think, though we may not be able to produce many scholars of dazzling brilliance, still if we can foster in the girls these characteristics—an easy adaptability to ever-changing conditions and circumstances, and courage to face disappointment and failure, we give them at least some equipment for life in the present-day world. I should like to think that these lay the foundation, in every girl who completes her schooling with us, of that admirable character of optimism and courage so ably portrayed by Robert Browning. This is what he writes:

One who never turned his back but marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph;
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better.

S.M. Orchestra to Play At Alliance Francaise

French Composers Listed On Tonight's Bill

For the first time in the history of music in Shanghai the Municipal Orchestra will play in the Garden of the "Alliance Francaise", tonight.

It is anticipated that the weekly concerts at the Alliance Française (to be held on Thursdays between 9 and 11 p.m.) will prove most popular since, owing to its location, a great number of music-lovers will probably attend who do not usually attend the performances at Jessfield Park.

The Orchestra will play on the terrace which acts as a natural stage. There is ample accommodation for the public on the adjoining lawns.

The nature of the programmes to be given at the Alliance Française will be similar in musical content to those at Jessfield Park, and the programme for the first concert, to be given on June 30 is as follows:—

Overture "Phedre" .....Massenet
Ballet-Musique "Paris-Helena" ..Gluck
(a) "Sarabande" (pour Quintette a cordes)
(b) "Rigaudon" .....Saint Saens
Suite "Scenes Pittoresques" ..Massenet
(a) Marche (c) Angelus
(b) Air de Ballet (d) Fete Boheme
Entr'acte Symphonique "Messidor" Bruean
Selection from Opera "Faust" . Gounod

Conscription and Bank Employees

Chekiang Government Issues Exemption Order

Chinese employees of the four Government banks in Chekiang have been exempted from conscription for one year, according to an order issued by the Chekiang Provincial Government yesterday.

The four Government banks are: the Central Bank, Bank of China, Bank of Communications and the Farmers' Bank, which, the order says, handle finances behind the lines. Their work is therefore as important as that at the front, according to the order.

The order was issued after receipt of petition from the joint office of the four banks at Yuyao where conscription is being enforced. Some of the employees of the four banks have also been required to join the army.

This exemption does not extend to employees of other banking institutions at Yuyao.

Cost of Hire Cars To Be Increased

Minimum Charge of $1.20 From Tomorrow; Hourly Rate to Be $3.60

With petrol selling from the pumps at $1.30 a gallon, Shanghai motorists have been somewhat badly hit for some time past. Now, a second class of motorists—those who, for various reasons, do not have cars of their own, but use hire cars—will find the cost of transportation suddenly shooting up from tomorrow, for the following notice is being issued today:

"Owing to the increased cost of gasoline and other supplies, we.... beg to announce that, commencing Friday, July 1, the minimum charge will be increased to $1.20 for twenty minutes or $3.60 per hour," instead of the old charges of $1 and $3 respectively.

These new rates apply to the Ford Hire Service, Taylor Garage Ltd., Johnson Garage, Ltd., and the Silver Taxi Service, who form the four major hire car operating companies in Shanghai; between them they maintain the largest and most modern fleets of American cars which are available night and day—except during rush hours, most pessimists would add.

In addition to these companies are a large number of smaller companies which are expected to fall into line shortly, as they always have in the past. A few of the two or three-car companies, however, will probably hang on to the old rate as long as possible, compensating for the increase in running costs by the slight increase in trade which they expect will accrue to their garages.

Anglo-French Party to Be Held Tonight

British Ex-Servicemen Will Entertain French

Members of the United Services Association tonight are entertaining members of the French Ex-Servicemen's Association at a cocktail party at the Shanghai Race Club between the hours of 6.30 and 8.30 and a large attendance is expected.

The function was originally planned to coincide with the State visit to France of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, who were to have arrived in that country today, but the visit has been postponed owing to the death of the Countess of Strathmore, mother of Queen Elizabeth. Nevertheless, the reception arranged by British ex-servicemen will be held as announced to symbolize the warm relationships between the British and the French peoples.

Austin in Wimbledon Final

Henner Henkel, German Star, Beaten in Three Sets; Americans Lead in Women's Competition

London, June 28.

WITH three American women entering the semi-finals of the Wimbledon singles championship today, there is every prospect for an all-American final.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, former world champion, will meet Mrs. Hilde Sperling of Denmark for the right to enter the final, while in another semi-final, Miss Alice Marble, No. 1 ranking American player, will oppose Miss Helen Jacobs, her compatriot.

Wimbledon, June 29.

In the semi-finals of the men's championship at Wimbledon today, H. W. Austin, the British ace, defeated Henner Henkel, the main German threat, by 6-2, 6-4, 6-0.—Reuter.

Indians Continue In Lead

Rain Curtails Big League Baseball Programme in United States

New York, June 28.

Trouncing the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2, while the Chicago Cubs bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals, 9-3, the Cincinnati Reds today strengthened their grip on the second place in the National League. The Cleveland Indians continued to raise their total by trimming the Detroit Tigers, 5-4, in the American League. The Chicago White Sox rallied in walloping the lowly St. Louis Browns, 10-9.

Rain cut down the programme, halting two games in each loop.

For more than half the game, the Cubs and the Cards waged a stiff battle but the Cardinals knocked out seven runs in the fifth frame and sent Jimmy Carleton running to the showers, thus paving the way for 9-3 win over the Bruins.

John Martin whacked out a four-bagger and a single to chase in four men for the Cards.

Scoring two runs in the sixth to obtain a grip on the game, the Red-legs went through for a 5-2 triumph over the Bucs.

Ernie Lombardi, star catcher, did well with the bat, connecting for two singles to drive in three men.

A lone error by the Bengals proved costly, for the Tigers had to admit defeat at the hands of the Tribe, 5-4.

The Chisox bunched their hits to push out the Browns, 10-9. The Browns hung up 15 bingles against 11 but they failed to string the hits together and convert them into runs.

Middlesex Lose to Somerset

County Cricket Leaders Badly Beaten

London, June 29.

The heavy defeat of Middlesex, the leaders in the County Championship, by Somerset was the highlight of the first-class cricket matches concluded today, in nearly all of which bowlers dominated.

The accurate length and deceptive swing of Andrews, the Somerset bowler who obtained the "cricketers' double" for the first time last year, was mainly responsible for the downfall of Middlesex. Andrews took seven wickets for 58 in the first innings and six for 83 in the second.

The only other counties to secure full points were Essex, who beat Hampshire by an innings and 22 runs, and Warwick, who overwhelmed Gloucester by 10 wickets.

Lancashire, Kent, Yorkshire and Derby only won on the first innings.

The outstanding individual performance was given by Peter Smith, of Essex, who practically singlehanded won the match for his county against Hampshire.

In Hampshire's two innings he took five for 75 and four for 38, and then, to show he was equally good with the bat, he knocked up 85.

Details:

At Manchester—Lancashire beat Surrey on the first innings. Lancashire 291 (Washbrook 107). Surrey 125 (Pollard four for 39) and, following on, 102 for six (Pollard four for 37).

At Tunbridge Wells—Kent beat Sussex on the first innings. Kent 446 (Woolley 162, Valentine 118). Sussex 157 and 125 for three.

At Brentwood—Essex by Hampshire by an innings and 22 runs. Hampshire 194 (Peter Smith five for 75) and 122 (Peter Smith four for 33). Essex 338 (Peter Smith 85).

At Bath—Somerset beat Middlesex by nine wickets. Somerset 249 (Buse 95, Jim Smith six for 63) and 77 for one. Middlesex 84 (Andrews seven for 58) and 241 (Andrews six for 83).

At Bradford—Yorkshire beat Notts on the first innings. Notts 87 (Bowes four for seven) and 95 for five. Yorkshire 133 (Jepson four for 15).

At Birmingham—Warwick beat Gloucester by 10 wickets. Gloucester 145 (Mayer five for 43) and 199 (Mayer six for 32). Warwick 305 (Scott five for 82) and 34 without loss.

At Hove—Sussex beat Cambridge by 66 runs. Sussex 116 (Rees Davies four for 23, Wild four for 24) and 320. Cambridge 293 (Cubb 90, Yardley 75) and 86 (Tuppin six for 38).

At Derby—Derby beat Northants on the first innings. Derby 230 and 173 for six declared. Northants 93 (Mitchell six for 15) and 67 for two.

At Oxford—Oxford drew with the Army 450 for nine declared (Leslie 156). Oxford 129 (Stephenson for 61) and, following on, 174 for one.—Reuter.

Test Draws Renew Clamour For Timeless Games

Crowds Want Results in Cricket Series; Bradman Makes Another Record; Compton's Fine Innings

London, June 29.

THE dramatic ups and downs of the second Test match at Lord's, which ended in a draw, kept both Australia and England on tenterhooks, but the sequel has resulted in a renewal of the clamour for timeless Test matches.

The noteworthy features of the last day's play included a splendid innings by Compton, who scored 76 not out, and another century by Don Bradman, who made 102 not out.

The Australian captain set up yet another record when he passed J. B. Hobbs' record of 3,636 runs in Tests between England and Australia.

According to a message from Sydney, Kippax said that Bradman must have missed Grimmett terribly in the second Test.

M. A. Noble, the former Australian Test player, paid a tribute to Paynter as one of the greatest fighters in cricket history.

The attendance for four days was over 100,000—a record for Lord's.

The final scores of the match were:

England—1st innings—494
2nd innings—242 for eight declared.
Australia—1st innings—422
2nd innings—204 for six.

Ames Badly Hurt

It transpires now that Ames was injured in his left hand, not his right as stated in an official bulletin. Ames fears that he will not be able to play for a month.

The play after the tea aljournment on the last day was featured by aggressive hitting.

After the departure of Brown for 10, which took him nearly half an hour, the rate of scoring increased perceptibly, although Verity's accuracy was proving troublesome.

Brown was bowled by Verity round his legs. The batsman was completely baffled and did now know how it happened (71 for two).

Bradman reached his 50 after 60 minutes, his score then including seven 4's.

McCabe with only eight to his credit was missed by Wright in the gully off Farnes, but after he had brought his score to 21 he was caught by Hutton at second slip off Verity (110 for three).

Hassett attacked the bowling from the start, and outpaced Bradman, who was scoring at the rate of a run a minute. Hammond changed the bowling frequently.

After 40 minutes' batting Hassett was bowled by Wright round his legs for 42 (175/4).

Farnes nearly ran out Hassett from midoff before the batsman had opened his account. The Australian was also dropped by Edrich at fine leg off Verity at nine.

Badcock did not stay long, being caught at second slip by Wright off Edrich for a "duck" (180 for five).

Barnett was next out, caught by Paynter off Edrich for 14 (204 for six). He slashed wildly at a ball outside the off stump.

When stumps were drawn, the score was 204 for six, with Bradman 102 not out. Scores:

Budge the Other Finalist

Wimbledon, June 29.

Donald Budge, the holder, who is a hot favourite to retain his title, today eliminated Puncec, of Yugoslavia, by 6-2, 6-1, 6-4. Budge has hitherto not lost a single set.

Austin played the best tennis of his career today in eliminating Henkel. He was cool and confident. Henkel played as well as he was allowed. The Briton was like a machine in his accuracy, and his beautiful passing shots never gave his opponent a chance. In the first set the Briton lost the first game but then reeled off five games in a row. In the second set Henkel led by 2-1, 3-2 and again 4-3, hitting harder and serving particularly well, but Austin was unperturbed. The third and last set was a virtual walkover for the Briton.—Reuter.

Major interest will be centred on the battle between Mrs. Moody and the Danish woman, formerly Hilde Krahwinkel of Germany, for Mrs. Sperling defeated the former world titleholder, earlier this month in the semi-final of the London championship.

Mrs. Sperling beat Mrs. Moody, 8-6, 6-2, in the Queen's Club tourney only to bow to Miss Jadwiga Jedrzejowska of Poland in the final, 6-3, 6-0.

The second clash of the year between the two crack women players and determination of the American star to regain her position as the world's lealing player should provide some of the best play seen in the championship series to date.

Mrs. Moody Wins Easily

Mrs. Moody, who has won the Wimbledon title on seven occasions, entered the semi-final at the expense of Miss Kay Stammers, English girl, 6-2 and 6-1.

Mrs. Moody won with the greatest of ease. She was not pressed for a single moment throughout the encounter and did not even open up when her rival attempted to rally.

Miss Stammers was off form, netting constantly and revealing an unusually weak back-hand. Mrs. Moody was so confident and so accurate that she did not take her light tennis jacket off.

Mrs. Sperling won her way into the last four by ousting Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of the United States in three sets, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4. The Danish star rallied after dropping the initial set and played a vigorous game to win. She used her speed and her powerful strokes to good advantage, covering the court in good style.

Miss Marble took the measure of Mme. Simone Mathieu, French champion, 6-2, 6-3, while Helen Jacobs, unleeled perfectly placed shots to humble Miss Jedrzejowska, 6-2, 6-3.

She used skill and fine cross-court placements to nullify the powerful driving and serving of her opponent.

Budge and Mako Win

The champion American doubles team of Don Budge and Gene Mako reached the semi-finals of the men's doubles championship by trouncing Frederick Hughan and Hans van Swol of the Netherlands, 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

Earlier, the doubles champions custed the veteran combination of Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

The two members of France's famous "Four Musketeers" during France's long reign as Davis Cup champion put up a hard fight despite their age, but the perfect understanding of the Americans and Budge's cannon-ball serves were too much for them.

Mrs. Fabyan and Miss Marble of America did well to best Miss Thelma Coyne and Nancye Wynne, Australian champions, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, after a fine rally.

The strong Japanese combination of Yasumine Kuramitsu and Fumio Nakano disappointed, losing to the New Zealand-Czechoslovakia team of Camille Malfroy and Franz Cejnar. Malfroy and Cejnar won, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.—United Press.

A wind of gale force made play difficult today, says Reuter.

Mrs. Fabyan and Miss Marble (America) entered the semi-finals of the Women's Doubles by defeating Miss Coyne and Miss Wynne, of Australia, by 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.

In the third round of the Mixed Doubles Wilde and Miss Whitmarch beat Gopfert and Fraulein Krauss (Germany) by 7-5, 4-6, 6-2, while Borotra and Mrs. Moody beat Lysaght and Miss Yorke (Britain) 6-2, 2-6, 6-0.

Lightweight Battle Postponed

New York, June 29.

The battle for the world's lightweight championship between Henry Armstrong, negro featherweight and welterweight champion of the world, and Lou Ambers, 24-year-old Italian-American holder, has been postponed from July 26 to August 10, according to an announcement today.

Ambers is said to have bruised his hand in a recent contest.—Reuter.

Amateurs Prepare for July 4 Game

The Shanghai Amateurs, in preparing for the Fourth of July ball game against the U.S. Marines, will play two practice games with the U.S.S. Augusta. The first tussle will take place today at four o'clock while the second encounter is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, starting an hour earlier.

Benny Lynch Just Over Regulation Weight

Heavy Rain May Delay Bout, Save Title

Paisley, June 28.

Benny Lynch, world champion flyweight, was 6½lb. overweight today for tonight's title bout and was given one hour to make the flyweight limit or accept the alternative of forfeiting his title to Jackie Jurich of San Jose, California, fifth ranking contender in the midget class.

Lynch was a two to one favourite to retain the title today. Pouring rains during the day indicated possible postponement of the fight even if Benny is able to work off his excess weight.—United Press.

Cricketers Hope for Chance To Resume League Play

Prospects of Week-end Games Considered; Rain Has Ruined Schedule to Date; Damage to Pitches

FOR the third week-end in succession cricketers have been foiled of their pastime by weather the like of which Shanghai has not seen for many a long year. For fifteen days the Race Course has been closed to all sport, and it will be some time before batsmen will find their form and bowlers their length. The Ground Committees of the various clubs have had a trying time, as unknown to the ordinary layman, pitches are as difficult to tend as rare flowers. There are an hundred and one kinds of scourges which profit by heavy rainfalls, least of which is the dreaded "leatherjack"; and ground staffs find it hard enough without having to battle against the elements at the same time.

As in the case of matches scheduled for the week ending June 19, last Saturday and Sunday's fixtures have been cancelled, each team in question profiting only to the extent of points percentage. Some teams avoided almost certain defeat, while others were deprived of the maximum points they had counted on taking to make their passage to the top the easier. With this in mind it will be even harder to predict this season's League champions, unless it is decided to replay what has so far been left undecided.

The League will be set in motion again with the appearance of the youthful Parsee side on the Cricket Club ground on Saturday, when they will be engaged by the S. C. C. Stragglers. Neither team has yet won a match, and this fact should make the fight a tough one, with the home eleven the likely winners. Much is expected of the newly-formed Parsee side, and with a tried backbone in M. J. Divecha, their skipper, the Shroff brothers, and F. R. Kermani, they should have little difficulty in settling down against somewhat superior players. Their bowlers are at home on this ground, and the Stragglers will have to scrape for every run against a well-balanced and judiciously placed field.

Archie Sinclair's side will have the advantage of playing on a familiar wicket, and a strong batting side should win the day against bowlers who are certainly effective but too similar in pace and style. R. Booth, A. V. T. Deane and the skipper himself are on the top of their form, and on what promises to be a plum wicket will be hard to dislodge. Sinclair has always been at ease to slow stuff; Deane has a taste for it too. This side can also boast a varied attack, and if it is a question of bowlers on the day, the Stragglers will be at no disadvantage.

Colts v. Headquarters

At the same time the stronger of the two Recreation Club sides will engage the Staff and Headquarters XI on the Recs ground. The Colts, led by Pat Madar, won their first match against the Tyros in convincing manner, the skipper falling only ten runs short of the century in a healthy total of 228 runs for seven wickets (declared), to dismiss their opponents quite easily for 53. In both departments the club side is strong, comprising as it does most of the Recs representatives; but it would be no surprise if the Army team hands out a defeat to them. Commander Boucher, captain of the Staff and Headquarters XI, is in fine fettle with the bat, besides taking five wickets for 23 runs in the last match he played in. The side does not rely on the usual one or two for its strength, and in this respect is more fortunate than its opponents. However, little can be said as yet, since it will be their first appearance on a turf wicket this season, their last match being played on the matting of the Police Club ground.

The Durham Light Infantry will attack the guardians of this city's peace when they go into action on the latter's ground on Saturday. The Infantry have been victors once against the Parsees, and vanquished once, by last year's champions, the S. C. C. Nomads. Undismayed however by their recent setback, they should prove quite equal to the task of defeating the Police, although the latter side is undefeated. Capt. Kirby, skipper of the Army side, has yet to strike his form, and spectators in particular are eagerly awaiting the pleasure of seeing him drive and cut at will; his reputation as a fine bat has travelled ahead of him. Apart from being a good side at the crease, they can place a variety of pace at their captain's disposal, a fact which the Nomads learnt to the discomfort of their better batsmen. Thomasson, Browne and Bolan are bowling very well, and Arnold and Clarke are improving at each appearance. How they will fare on the matting is yet to be seen, as the majority of these men are of the spin type.

Police a Good Side

The Police are ready for their opponents. Boddy and Sevenoaks will form the spearhead of the attack, while a certain amount of reliance can be placed in Stanley Gash and P. J. Edmunds, both of whom seem to have mastered the art of hitting hard. This side is fast forming itself into a formidable combination, and is certainly stronger this year than it has been for some time. Their fielding has improved beyond words, and the Durham side will have to run every single if they intend to be on the right side at the end of the day.

Thanks to the rain, the Nomads will play their next match in territory again. This time they face a team from across the way, when on Sunday T. W. R. Wilson will lead his men on against his old rival D. W. Leach, skipper of last year's League leaders. Wilson and Leach have played innumerable matches against each other during the last decade, and it is typical of the friendly rivalry that exists between the two senior clubs that matches in which these two players appear are fought out in a manner which is akin to that prevailing in holiday fixtures. In fact, one can be assured of some lively cricket on the Cricket Club ground this Sunday.

The Tyros have lost one game, the only one they have played so far. That was against the S. R. C. Colts. However, this should not deter them from feeling fairly confident when they face their opponents, whose weakness in bowling is very pronounced. H. E. Orr is missing from the Nomads side, making a gap which the skipper will find hard to fill. Apart from E. H. Anstice there are no regular bowlers, though Dr. H. H. Morris and F. "Peanut" Marshall worked liked trojans in the single match the side won early this month. The team rely too much on their batsmen, and should these fail it will be a hard task to recover against such as the Tyros can put in the field.

Wilson's side has had plenty of time to recover from their initial setback, and with a little more confidence Sunday's match will not end as many believe, but will be a repetition of the battle between David and Goliath.

Western District Public School Annual Prizegiving

Headmaster Refers to Trying Days During Hostilities; Pupils' Achievements

THE school's efforts to continue its work during the hostilities, when the building was being occupied by British troops, was referred to by the Headmaster, Mr. P. W. Bennett, at the annual distribution of prizes at the Western District Public School, Tifeng Road yesterday. Mr. Bennett presided and he was supported by Mr. R. G. MacDonald, who presented the prizes, Mr. H. G. Huckstep (S.M.C. Education Dept.) and Mrs. Huckstep, and Mr. W. J. Pyle, Senior Assistant master.

In his report the Headmaster stated that the hall in which they were gathered combined the functions of a gymnasium, theatre, and concert room. At the present time it was not fully equipped, but it was going to be a wonderful focus for their school life.

The school's first endeavour during the uncertain days of last September was to safeguard the senior form, for whom the certificate examination was vital. The building was occupied for six months by the British forces, but the Foreign Y.M.C.A. came to their aid by lending rooms.

On November 1 they re-opened for afternoon sessions in the American school, and for four months they stayed there, carrying on with a restricted curriculum. Mr Hayes, of the American school found his premises invaded by three schools besides his own. "How he managed to put us all up, I do not know" went on Mr. Bennett. Again with the help of the Y.M.C.A. there was much physical activity during the mornings for those pupils who chose to attend there or at the Racecourse.

"Grins of Happiness

Continuing Mr. Bennett said:—

"To cut a long story short, we returned here in March. I have never seen boys come back to school with such broad grins of happiness on their faces. In the past four months, they have put in a great deal of hard work. Special provision was made for those subjects, such as science, which were behindhand, and I can state with satisfaction that we are now practically abreast of the normal curriculum. If you look, as I hope you do look, at the examination papers that your sons have just brought home, I am confident that you will find them of the same high standard as in past years. The enrolment is rising again, and should soon be at its former maximum.

"As for outward and visible results, may I refer you to the list of honours and awards that have been announced since last June? I had, for various reasons, anticipated a lean year. We were, for example, sending in our first batch of certificate candidates, which was in the nature of an experiment. When the storm broke, success became even more dubious. But it turned out to be a fat year, and I am, frankly, proud of that printed list. I congratulate our first batch of old boys, most of whom are present this afternoon, on the fine academic record with which they left school. Nearly all of them, I am glad to say, have secured positions or are actively in training for some profession. We wish them well. Judging from their school days, it is evident that they intend to do well in life.

Physical Education

"A word about physical education. The older boys benefited very obviously from their activities at the Y.M.C.A. and the Race Course. Since then their main interest has been cricket. Thanks to three of the masters, they have had skilled practice at the nets. Now that the ordeal by water has been passed, they will be able to play matches during the rest of the season. You will remember that after being without playing space for many years, we were granted a field near by. Owing to delays in preparation, it is only now usable. But, like this gymnasium, it will be used to the full; and there will be a regular course of indoor and outdoor training instituted next term. I must not omit to mention that the scouts continue to flourish under Mr. Close; and what Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin have done for the Wolf Cubs is known to all who were at Kiaochow Park on Easter Monday. The usual swimming lessons for beginners have somehow been overlooked, but they will receive attention in September. We trust, however, that we shall not be obliged to swim to school.

"There have been changes among the Staff. Mrs. Hunter has retired under the age limit—a great loss. In Miss Riddihough and Mr. Rogerson, we have received an accession of strength. Mr. Close is going on long leave. That gives me an opportunity of expressing my great indebtedness to Mr. Close—and, I am sure, yours too. Mr. Close's service has been original, fresh and successful to an extraordinary degree."

Mr. MacDonald, in a short address after presenting the awards, said "If you want to amount to anything after leaving school, you must go on learning all your life."

The Prizewinners

The list of awards was as follows:—

Form D: Edwards, Meschersky, Tulloch, Larikov, Dobrohotoff; Form C: Madar, Bell, Godkin, Shirazee; Form B: Dodd, Abily, Harrap, Chang; Form A: Speroni, Penson, Fernandez, Van Herwijnen, Bell; Form I Extra: Kaye, Dobrhotoff, Reyer, Lee; Form I: Levy, Uyehara, Chang, Kliene; Form II: Courtney, Lim, Richardson, Read; Form III: Elias, Levy, Cooper; Form IV: Hekking, Wahamaki, Jacob, Chaikin; Form V: Thompson, Goldschmidt, Quayle, Memelsdorff.

Tennis League Play Commences

J.T.C. Surprise in Win Over C.C. Club

The curtain in the Men's Tennis League First Division rolled up yesterday as three matches were played off. The Japanese Tennis Club, a "dark horse" team this year, won an important match in the season's opening engagement by scoring a victory of 8-7 over the strong Columbia Country Club on the latter's courts.

The Columbians were runners-up in the past season and stand a good chance of winning this year's championship, as the County Athletic Club, title-holders, are not entered in the present competition.

A big upset was witnessed when Carson and Smith fell victims to Sudo and Oka, the Americans losing each one of the three sets by 6-2, 6-2, and 8-6. The Japanese played remarkably well, showing perfect teamwork which broke up their opponents' game on numerous occasions. In the third set the losers put up a great rally but without avail.

The Cercle Sportif Francais, while playing on the opponents' grounds, succeeded in subduing the Shanghai Recreation Club by a convincing score of 11-4. The French dropped the first doubles to Tom Madar and Louis Marcal by a surprising score of 6-0, 6-1, 6-4. The rest four couples escaped unscathed, yielding only one set in the fifth pair.

In the Second Division the C.S.F. also emerged victorious over the Sokol Tennis Club, triumphing by 9-6. The Shanghai Cricket Club, although losing their senior match to the Country Club 10-5, made good in the Second Division and kept the lead by scoring a 10-5 victory over the German Garden Club on the latter's grounds.

Raising of Rentals At Present Criticized

The increase of rentals during the period of distress as at present was criticized by Judge Chu at the Second Special District Court yesterday.

The case was brought to court by the Crédit Foncier d'Extrême Orient, real estate agent, against Mr. F. Smehill, a Czechoslovak, for the recovery of $1,500, back rent for 25 months at the rate of $60 per month. From May this year, the rent was said to have been raised to $65, which was considered by the Judge to be unfair.

Admiral Yarnell Inspects Marines

A special parade of the Fourth U.S. Marines was held at the Racecourse yesterday morning when Admiral H. E. Yarnell, Commander-in-Chief of the American Asiatic Fleet, took the salute. Upper picture shows Admiral Yarnell and Colonel C.F.B. Price and the Admiral's staff, while below the men are seen marching past.

Exhibition House Re-erection

American Corporation's Claim Dismissed in H.M. Supreme Court

A sequel to an agreement to purchase a house which had been exhibited at the Chinese Industries and Better Homes Exhibition which was held on the Racecourse last year, was heard before Judge Sir Allan Mossop, in H.M. Supreme Court yesterday, when a claim by Getz Bros., an American corporation, against Mr. E. F. Harris, for $832.35 was dismissed with costs.

Mr. M. Reader Harris represented the plaintiffs and Mr. Victor Priestwood appeared for the defendant. Mr. John Berents, manager of the Building Supplies Dept. of Getz Bros. stated that last summer, one of his company's exhibits at the exhibition on the Racecourse was a Masonite house. On behalf of Getz Bros. Mr. Harris and he came to an agreement, as a result of which all the materials, with the exception of certain small fittings which might be mislaid or stolen, were taken down to Point Island, where Mr. Harris required the house to be re-erected. The foundations were completed on July 14, and a start was made on the framework.

On August 12, however, they had to stop work as the hostilities had broken out, and since then it had been impossible to go to Point Island to complete the work.

Mr. Harris still owed them $832 and some cents, being the balance due under the agreement.

The First Bomb

In answer to Mr. Priestwood, Mr. Berents said that it was still impossible for Chinese workmen to go to Point Island, and that during the hostilities it was absolutely impossible to proceed with the building of the house.

Dealing with a question by Mr. Priestwood about the cessation of work on the house due to the hostilities, the Judge exclaimed "I jumped out of my chair almost a foot high when that first bomb went off. I don't think that there was a Chinese left in the district during the fighting."

Continuing, Mr. Berents said that it was their intention to finish the house by August 1, and, later they extended the time to September 1.

Ernest Frederick Harris gave evidence about the agreement, stating that he had not paid the final balance because the house had not been completed.

Giving judgment, the Judge stated that the point in the case was the construction of the contract between Getz Bros. and Mr. Harris in letters which passed between them in March and April last year. The point of difference was the construction of the payments clause of the contract's terms. Certain instalments had been paid and the balance was to be paid after the house had been erected on Point Island. The plaintiff contended that the final payment should be made after the house had been erected on Point Island, or on August 1, 1937, whichever should be the earlier date. The house had never been finally erected. In his view if this clause had had the meaning which the plaintiff had put on it, it would not have been worded this way.

"Knowing how exacting Miss Shearer is of her own performances on the screen," said Miss Loy, "I deeply appreciate her thoughtfulness, and treasure the letter above any other I have ever received."

OBITUARIES

Dr. C. C. Selden

The Presbyterian Mission has received a cablegram announcing the death of Dr. C. C. Selden on June 15 in the United States. Dr. and Mrs. Selden after 41 years spent in Canton, for the most part in connection with the John G. Kerr Hospital for the Insane, retired from China only last autumn.

Dealers Not to Issue Transit Certificates for Cargo

In order to maintain stocks of foodstuffs here, the Beans and Rice Dealers' Association has decided not to issue transit certificates to rice cargo to be sent to other ports, according to a Chinese report yesterday.

Price of rice of the best quality has also been limited to $14 by the Association, according to the same report.

The action of the association was taken following the arrival of small quantity of rice owing to the inclement weather. Meanwhile rice prices have been going up.

The association was reported to have notified the Customs authorities not to allow any transshipment of rice cargo from Shanghai beginning July 1.

Gas Pipe Explodes and Cinema Wall Falls

When a gas pipe exploded yesterday morning at the Star Cinema, a Chinese establishment at 301 Park Road, near Tsingtao Road, a portion of a wall collapsed and one man was injured. The accident occurred at 11 o'clock and a call was sent to Sinza Fire Station to inspect the damage and guard against further mishaps.

Robber Gangs Given Prison Terms

Twenty-Three Men to Spend Years in Jail

Four armed robber gangs rounded up by the Settlement Police received long prison terms at the First Special District Court yesterday.

The first gang of seven members was convicted on charges of having staged a daring hold-up at the Lyric Theatre in Peking Road on April 17. Two received eight years' jail terms each, three, seven years each, and the remaining two were sentenced to seven and a half years and three years respectively.

Four members of another gang, from whom the police seized nine pistols and 89 rounds of ammunition, were given sentences ranging from twelve to nine years.

The third gang consisted of six members who were sentenced to terms ranging from twelve years to seven years and eight months. They were convicted on charges of armed robbery.

The fourth gang of six robbers received from the same Court sentences ranging from eight years to six months.

Extortion "Racket" on Banks of Creek

Methods of Loafers are Revealed in Court

Several Chinese who were arrested on June 7 are now awaiting sentence in the First Special District Court in connection with "squeeze" and intimidation on the banks of the Soochow Creek.

The case came up in the Court yesterday morning, when the statements of coolies and weighers were heard.

According to the story of a wheelbarrow coolie, three Chinese boarded rice boats at the Shanse Road jetty in April and demanded the seven cents per picul which the coolies receive for unloading the rice. The men finally took five cents, leaving the coolies only two cents. If the "racketeers" were refused "squeeze" they would remove the planks connecting the boats with the shore.

A weigher gave evidence of attempts on the part of loafers to exact half the weighing fee paid by the rice merchants. Coolies were assaulted upon refusal to pay the racketeers, and the Police were called in.

Detective-Dergt. J. Bradley conducted the investigation for the Police.

Ashes of Newspapermen Honoured

Remains of Two Men Killed On Yangtze Sent Home

Carried by colleagues in the newspaper profession, urns containing the ashes of Mr. Hisao Shimozu and Mr. Yujiro Wakatsuki, respectively news cameraman of the Domei News Agency and correspondent of the Tokyo daily "Yomiuri," left here for Tokyo aboard the Shanghai Maru yesterday morning.

They were killed on June 22 while following Japanese troops in action.

Funeral services will be held in the offices of the Domei News Agency and the "Yomiuri" in Tokyo.

Unclaimed Luggage and Parcels

Property of Passengers on Railways May be Located

A quantity of luggage left behind by passengers who travelled on the Nanking-Shanghai and Shanghai-Hangchow-Ningpo Railways is awaiting delivery at the China Travel Service in Szechuen Road.

The luggage was either left behind immediately prior to the outbreak of hostilities or in the months of August, September and October at stations where traffic was still maintained.

An employee of the railways has been stationed at the China Travel Service to assist passengers to trace their missing luggage. The luggage gathered by the railways was originally stored in the Settlement and has now been sent to the China Travel Service.

THE Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese forces in Shansi, General Yen Hsi-shan, and other provincial leaders have secured the approval of the Central authorities for the erection of memorial towers magistrates who were killed at their posts and for the inscription of their names in the Martyrs' Halls in their respective districts, says a despatch to the "Hwa Mei Chen Pao."

Berlin Bourse

Berlin, June 28.

There was a remarkable revival of activity on the share market today. Although business was not on a large scale, it spread to all leading issues and in the absence of further selling led to a general rise in prices. Minings were again much in demand, some shares advancing to four per cent., partly due to the shortage of supply. Potash shares rose from 1 to 1½ per cent. Specialties were also greatly in demand with Continental Rubber showing a total gain of 2½ per cent.

Call money stood at 3⅛ to 3⅜ per cent.—Trans-Ocean.

German-Netherlands Clearing Accord

Amsterdam, June 29.

The clearing agreement between Germany and Holland dated December 18, 1937, has now been ratified, it is announced by the Netherlands Foreign Office. The agreement takes effect retrogressively from January 1, 1938, and applies to Holland, the Netherlands East Indies, Surinam and Curacao.—Trans-Ocean.

Bethlehem Steel Prices

New York, June 28.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation have reduced their prices similar to the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation. The reductions range from $2.50 to $8.50 per ton, or from 6 to 17 per cent.—Reuter.

New York Stocks

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, June 28.

Stock prices on Wall Street today finished with mostly gains up to about 2 points, with buying becoming increasingly selective. Steels were sensitive to talk that independent steel companies may reduce wages, while, at the same time, opinions differ regarding the effect of lower steel prices on steel buying. Rails, after being heavy, turned reactionary. The turnover today amounted to 1,290,000 shares.

SOLUTION OF LONDON PUZZLE No. 1554

New Steel Prices

New York, June 28.

While most of the independent companies have adopted the new steel prices, some of these concerns are also hinting at the necessity of a wage cut.

Such a situation is believed to presage several important changes in the steel industry: firstly, a virtual elimination of differentials between Pittsburgh, Chicago and Birmingham may imply the abandonment of the basing for the unit system which would react unfavourably on the smaller companies not having complete geographical covering; and, secondly, the largest reductions are on sheets where the greatest economy in production has been achieved in recent years, thus the smaller producers not having the most modern machinery will find their profit making these items severely curtailed.

Meanwhile, unless there is a sharp increase in demand for steel, all units of the industry undoubtedly will operate at a loss, thus forcing the wage question quickly to the foreground.—Reuter.

Southern Pig-Iron Mills

Southern pig-iron mills have reduced their prices by $4.00 per ton, compared with $3.00 per ton at Pittsburgh.—Reuter.

Dow-Jones Summary

By Courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

Influential news on the Stock Exchange today was mostly favourable. Two railroads announced that they were adding men to their workshops. Domestic copper sales have increased, while it was noted that the demand for many commodities has improved. The Federal Reserve Board reported a decline in store inventories. Retail demand showed a slight improvement. On the other hand, adversely foreshadowing the deferring of debenture interest, the Atchison, Topeka & Sante Fe Railway has omitted payment on their preferred dividend. The Wilson Company has also omitted the payment of dividend on their 6 per cent. no-par cumulative preferred stock.

U.S. Commodities

Tuesday's Closing Quotations

New York, June 28.

Trading in the cotton market was early moderately active, with interest centred on July liquidation. After early steadiness on reports of further rains and the firmness of stocks, the market eased on liquidation, New Orleans selling and a less active demand. Finally, the market closed steady, with quotations ranging from 1 point up to 3 points down.

After declining on the weakness of cables, active commission house, foreign and dealer selling and the uncovering of stop-loss orders the rubber market rallied on the steadiness of securities, trade covering and a local demand. Finally, prices again eased on increased dealer liquidation. At the last call-over, losses of 33 to 40 points were recorded.

Wheat prices in Chicago early declined on favourable moisture reports from north-west Canada, hedging liquidation, the heaviness of Liverpool and Winnipeg cables and a forecast of showers in the Spring wheat belt, coupled with prospects of increased receipts. At the final bell, losses of 1¼ to 1⅜ cents were registered.

Despite easier London advices, there was commission house, foreign and outside buying and covering in the sugar market today, owing to the absence of selling. Traders are awaiting new developments. At the close, quotations ranged from unchanged to a ½ point up.

The silk market eased on disappointing cables, the easiness of other commodities, local realizing and importer, Japanese and professional selling. Later, prices advanced with securities, the lightness of offerings, fresh speculative buying and covering and trade support. Finally, the market again eased on importer selling. Closing Quotations ranged from 8 to 3 cents down.

End of War Not End of "China Incident"

Gen. Araki, Education Minister, Gives Views

Tokyo, June 29.

"The China incident is not only an issue between Japan and China but a natural outcome of the ideological and cultural changes which followed the European War."

Gen. Baron Sadao Araki, Minister of Education, made this statement in an address before directors of universities and colleges yesterday.

"Termination of the hostilities, therefore," he declared, "will not mean the final settlement of the incident. The China incident will be further protracted, leaving the fundamental question for solution.

"Japan's fate hinges on the solution of this basic question.

"The China incident is the toughest question confronting Japan, but the nation must fully realize that it forms one step in discharging the mission imposed on Japan."—Domei.
